PIPE FOR WATER EMERGENCY—This pipe piled near the West Hurley railroad station will soon be carrying Ashokan reservoir water to Kingston Reservoir No. 4, Zena. Three lines of it will be laid from a dike in the lower Ashokan basin to a culvert under Route 28 near the road's intersection with the Zena road. There the Ashokan water will run in an open brook to Zena. The pipeline, after it leaves the reservoir property at West Hurley will follow Route 28-A (the old Stony Hollow road) to the culvert under Route 28, a distance of slightly more than a mile. The eight-inch pipe was brought here from Wingdale, Dutchess County in 20-foot lengths. (Freeman photo)

City Wards, Towns Will Be Covered

Approximately 350 persons on the Kingston Area Community Chest "neighborhood" team will begin canvassing the city and surrounding areas Friday night in the Red Feather drive for $118,500.

This is only one phase of the multi-pronged drive of the local organization to put it over the top.

There is a team in each ward of the city and in three other neighboring areas which will be headed by a captain. Peter J. Kowalenko is chairman of the neighborhood division of the campaign, assisted by David Kline, Mrs. George Rifenbary and Mrs. John B. Glennon.

Sticklers Given Out

Kowalenko said today that the house-to-house canvass is held primarily to reach those who work for individuals or small firms, persons who work at home and others, not otherwise contacted, who may wish to participate.

Persons who contribute through their place of employment or by other means prior to the neighborhood canvass have been issued window stickers to (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Officer in Lanza Parole Suspended

ALBANY — Abraham Hutter, a senior parole officer who figured in the Joseph (Socks) Lanza parole scandal has been suspended pending a hearing.

A spokesman for the State Parole Division said yesterday that any further comment would have to come from Lee B. Mailler, the chairman of the parole board.

The board said Mailler was traveling on parole business and could not be reached immediately. Hutter, of New York City, also could not be reached for comment. Lanza, a convicted extortionist, was released from prison last February after being picked up as a parole violator. A political uproar resulted.

The parole board overruled the action by one of its members, James R. Stone, and Lanza was returned to prison. Stone resigned under fire.

Hutter was questioned last May 15 and 31 by the Republican-controlled legislative watchdog committee, which looked into the matter.

Mailler on May 14 testified publicly before the committee that Stone told him of a report that Hutter was a "go-between" in the release of Lanza. Mailler said Stone's report came from a newspaper reporter.

Stone quoted the reporter as saying that Hutter was the "one who had a bundle of dough" for Stone. Mailler said Stone told him that any suggestion of a payoff was nonsense.

Hutter told reporters the whole business was a "dirty, despicable lie." On May 15, Hutter again denied the report in testifying at a public hearing of the committee.

3 Schools Closing Friday; Toll 102

Today's inclement weather was partly blamed for a new increase of absenteeism at area schools while three additional units made plans known to close on Friday.

This was the latest developments on the local front due to the Asian-type flu disease spread, which the Associated Press said had claimed the lives of at least 102 persons in New York State.

The AP said the state toll—highest in the nation—climbed sharply yesterday with a report of 78 deaths in New York City since Oct. 1. Upstate, 24 deaths have been reported.

47 PC at Katrine

Locally, Woodstock and Saugerties Schools, while not involved in an area school conference Friday, will be closed. Most area schools were not scheduled to have classes on Friday due to the teachers conference.

Also closing its doors tomorrow will be the Lake Katrine School which reported a 47 per cent absenteeism and a serious shortage of teaching personnel.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster County commissioner of health, said there was still no plan to close local schools unless the rate of absenteeism approaches 50 per cent. He added that schools already closed anticipated resuming regular sessions on Monday, Oct. 28.

Schools closed by the seriousness of the flu situation are: Chambers School, Town of Ulster; Port Jervis Common School District 1, St. Joseph's, St. Mary's, East Kingston and New Paltz Central.

One of the deaths reported yesterday by the AP today was that of Kathy Sturdivant, 5, of Beaver Dams, who died yesterday. A physician said flu was a factor.

The influenza outbreaks began in the state about mid-July, but only one of the deaths reported occurred before Oct. 1. That involved a 46-year-old Buffalo man who died Sept. 27 of pneumonia and bronchitis following Asian flu. His identity was withheld by the health authorities.

4 Deaths Confirmed

The New York City Health Department, which prior to yesterday had listed 37 flu deaths, said "influenza was listed as one of the causes of death" in all 78 cases.

City Has 454 More Women Voters Signed Than Men

Women voters in the city of Kingston will outnumber men voters by 454, according to the registration figures compiled by the board of elections for the year 1957. The city's official total registration is 14,242.

Registration figures compiled for 1957 by the board of elections shows the total registration in the city of Kingston and county of Ulster is 110 less than in 1956, a presidential year, and up 6,890 over the registration of 1955.

The total registration this year is 68,257, of which 34,180 are males and 34,077 females.

The total registration in the city of Kingston for 1957 is 14,242 of which 6,894 are males and 7,348 are females.

In the county outside the city of Kingston the total registration for 1957 is 54,015, of which 27,286 are males and 26,729 are females.

Registration in the city of Kingston this year, a majority year, is 178 up over 1955 which was also a year in which a mayor was elected. City registration, however, is 1,802 lower than last year which was a presidential year.

In 1955 the total registration in the city and county was 61,367, of which 47,303 were registered from the county districts and 14,064 in the city of Kingston.

The 1956 registration was considerably larger as is always the case in a presidential election year. The total registration was 68,367, of which 52,323 were registered in the county districts and 16,044 in the city of Kingston.

Keresman Plan Is Favored Will Take Look At All Methods

Arthur Wallander, a former New York City police commissioner, here today on a preliminary survey of the Kingston police department, agreed in effect with a New York State Police Conference claim that the state could help with an official look at inadequacies in all law enforcement agencies.

Wallander said a report on his preliminary survey to determine police needs here would be ready before Nov. 11 when the local Common Council is due to meet.

Full Diagnosis

Next, if the city approves, he will conduct a study and diagnosis of the department which will take from a month to six weeks to complete.

The visit here today was coincident to a bid by the State Police Conference to get Gov. Harriman "to designate an agency to study the law enforcement situation throughout the state."

Wallander and his assistant, Albert Pleydell, a former commissioner of purchase in New York in the LaGuardia and O'Dwyer administrations, conferred with Mayor Frederick H. Stang, press and radio reporters this morning before starting a tour of the city.

Many Could Stand It

Asked if he agreed with the Police Conference proposal, Wallander said: "I think many cities and towns could stand to be looked into."

The Police Conference news release asked, among other things, a study of pay and working conditions, and Wallander said unattractive salaries as being high among reasons for inadequacies in many police departments.

His report, he said, would deal with salaries and the number of men required in the Kingston department, as well as with many (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

First Mass In Ulster On Sunday

The first two Masses for a new Roman Catholic congregation being formed in the Town of Ulster area will be held Sunday, it was announced today, by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph F. Connolly, who is in charge.

Msgr. Connolly, assigned to organize St. Philomena's parish by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, said the services will be held in the Cook building on East Chester Street bypass, near 9-W state highway junction.

Time of Masses

The Masses will be at 8 a. m. and 11 a. m. with 500 seats available in the building occupied most recently by Hercules Powder Company during a temporary expansion to complete government contracts.

Msgr. Connolly will celebrate the Masses on a chaplain's altar that he obtained after it had been used in the South Pacific and European theatres during World War II.

Announcement was made here October 8 that Msgr. Connolly would be transferred from New York City to take charge of St. Philomena's parish and begin plans for building a church later on five acres of land adjacent to the J. Ellis Briggs appliance showrooms.

Catholics Need Church

The former Charles Ashley property and that of the Acme Inn was acquired to meet the spiritual requirements of the increased number of Roman Catholic families in the Town of Ulster sector due to industrial expansion.

Msgr. Connolly today said it was his hope to have chapel facilities established in the inn building by December 1 for the celebration of Masses and holding other religious services. Until then the Cook building will be used temporarily on Sundays.

Prior to his local assignment by Cardinal Spellman, Msgr. Connolly was in charge of Spanish speaking congregations in New York. He speaks the language, also French (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Ave Calls Gas Tax Boost Vital to Road Planning

ALBANY — The sooner New York State raises its tax on gasoline a cent a gallon the better it will be for the state's expanded highway construction program, Gov. Harriman says.

However, the governor declined to say whether he would ask the 1958 Legislature to vote a boost in the four-cent-a-gallon levy.

Harriman, at a press conference yesterday, also denounced as a "political move to get off the hook" a new plan advanced by the Legislature's Republican leaders to speed school construction by cutting costs.

Cite Savings

Earlier in the day, Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Senate Leader Walter J. Mahoney proposed putting the state's credit behind local school construction bonds to reduce interest costs.

The GOP leaders said the proposal, to be submitted to the 1958 Legislature, would save school districts millions and give bond buyers the most security with the least red tape.

The governor said the Republican leaders were "attempting to get out from under, having failed to do the right thing last winter."

That was when the GOP-controlled Legislature rejected a Harriman administration proposal to create a state authority that would buy local bonds and re-sell them. Harriman said that, while he was not opposing the new plan, "I certainly am going to study how much this will cost through increased interest rates."

The governor spoke on the gasoline tax in response to reporters' questions after he had protested that the state was not being treated fairly in the federal interstate road-building program.

Says Requests Ignored

Harriman said he was surprised that the secretary of commerce (Continued on Page 14, Col. 6)

Brownell Out, CR Changes Unlikely

WASHINGTON — The choice of William P. Rogers to replace Herbert Brownell Jr. as attorney general apparently will bring no change in the Eisenhower administration's civil rights policies.

Brownell resigned yesterday after more than 4½ years as the government's top legal officer. President Eisenhower accepted the resignation with "very deep regret," and praised Brownell for "a highly significant contribution that you have made in the nation's service."

Prefers Private Life

Saying he plans to return to private law practice, Brownell disclaimed any ambitions for political office and asserted his intention to "stay in private life."

The White House announced that Rogers, deputy attorney general throughout Brownell's tenure, will be named to head the Justice Department. Rogers is expected to take over in about two weeks, but his nomination is subject to Senate confirmation next year.

Rogers, a close friend and adviser of Vice President Nixon, has been as strong an advocate of civil rights legislation as has Brownell. Both men told newsmen they had worked in close harmony generally.

When a newsmen asked whether "the Brownell policy" will be the Rogers policy," Rogers replied: "We have worked together for 4½ years, and have gotten along (Continued on Page 14, Col. 6)

LaMarca Granted Execution Stay

ALBANY — Kidnaper Angelo LaMarca today had at least two more weeks of life ahead of him while his attorneys considered whether to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

LaMarca had been scheduled to die tonight in the Sing Sing Prison electric chair for the kidnapping and slaying of the baby, Peter Weinberger.

Gov. Harriman yesterday granted a two-week stay to LaMarca, an hour after the state's highest court had refused to hear a new appeal.

Harriman granted the reprieve to permit LaMarca's attorneys time to appeal to the Supreme Court.

The court-appointed attorneys, Joseph Leonardo and Henry W. Schober, said in New York City they were "seriously considering" such an appeal.

Harriman twice had stayed LaMarca's execution while the state Court of Appeals weighed the motion for a re-argument of the case.

LaMarca, a 32-year-old mechanic and cab driver, took the Weinberger infant from the family home in Westbury, L. I., on July 4, 1956, and left him to die in a thickets along a road in Long Island.

A jury of 12 fathers found him guilty of first-degree murder. LaMarca's attorneys contended he had been driven out of his mind by increasing debts.

Sessions Private, No Names To See Witnesses All of Next Week

"Numbers of people" have been in contact with State Commissioner of Investigation Arthur L. Reuter in connection with his preliminary investigation of police corruption in Kingston, it was disclosed today as Reuter opened local headquarters at the state armory on Manor Avenue.

Reuter told The Freeman he could not comment on the nature of testimony received by his office since Gov. Harriman ordered an investigation two weeks ago.

No Names Given

He refused to divulge how the contacts were made—if by telephone, letter or in person.

Reuter laid particular stress on "anonymity" of witnesses appearing before the commission, explaining that in any investigation steps must be taken to "preserve such anonymity. He described such procedure as routine in any probe, whether by district attorney, other law enforcement agencies or his own office."

'Contacts' Secret

He said it was impossible, of course, to prevent the "press" from seeing some of the people coming into the armory—but stressed that the simple fact that a public official appeared before his group must not be taken as "derogatory" to that individual. It should not constitute an "implication" regarding such an official, he said.

Reuter told The Freeman that "under no circumstance" would he disclose or discuss any "contacts" made in connection with his investigation.

Meet With DA

Reuter and his staff of five were closeted with District Attorney Howard C. St. John this morning. All sessions are private, of course.

Reuter told The Freeman that St. John had offered his "cooperation" in the preliminary investigation. St. John applied to Ulster County Court for a copy of the minutes of the April Grand Jury which investigated local police irregularities. Use of such minutes by the commissioner was authorized in a ruling Wednesday by Judge Louis G. Bruhn.

Reuter said today that he had received a copy of the minutes "in part," explaining that the remainder of such minutes was still being typed.

Biggest Icebreaker New Soviet 'First'

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Russians are claiming another technological "first" — not so dramatic as Sputnik but more practical.

It is the first nuclear-powered surface ship, an icebreaker which may revolutionize Arctic navigation.

This biggest icebreaker in the world will pack a punch calculated to put it into areas ships never have reached.

It has been under construction in a Leningrad shipyard for two years, and the Soviet news agency Tass says the engines are being installed now.

Its displacement of 16,000 tons makes it 4,000 tons larger than any icebreaker of record. Atomic reactors will give it 44,000 horsepower, more than twice the power of any other icebreaker.

Modern icebreakers clear paths for ships through thick Arctic icefields by raising their prows above the ice and then crushing it beneath them. Their engines not only propel the ship but also pump water back and forth in ballast tanks to shift weight. The additional weight of the new nuclear icebreaker as compared with conventional types and its high ratio of horsepower to weight promise enormously increased icebreaking capabilities.

The use of nuclear power is reckoned to enable the ship to operate for a year without refueling and make it completely independent of conventional fuels.

The new icebreaker will be put into service on the northern sea route to the north of Siberia. Along this route ships pass from ports in northern European Russia along northern Siberia, servicing various stations along the way, into the Pacific Ocean through the Bering Strait.

New Spirit of Cooperation

Outlook Better for Solving Parking Problems in State

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY (AP)—Prospects for solving the parking problems that beset New York communities are brightening.

An Associated Press survey among public and private agencies concerned with parking produced a consensus that there was a new spirit of cooperation shaping up. It includes:

1. Growing support for programs under which major costs of parking facilities are borne by business interests that benefit the most from them.

2. An increasing awareness among municipal leaders that failure to cope with parking problems can lead to loss of taxpaying, commercial enterprises. Suburban shopping centers take over.

Debate Is Less
The result of those developments is an apparent trend toward more cooperative action and less debate over whether parking facilities are the exclusive property of a community's government or its merchants.

While long-range trends develop, the demand for parking facilities remains a here-and-now affair. The problem is a post-war development.

In 1945, there were 2½ million motor vehicles in New York State. Today, there are nearly 5 million. As traffic congestion worsened, parking was banned, at least part-time, in more and more streets in order to improve traffic flow. As the number of cars increased, the number of spaces in which they could be parked decreased.

Clifford A. Allanson, executive director of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, says that merchants cooperated in programs to clear streets to allow traffic to flow more freely. But, he says, no additional moves to eliminate on-street parking should be made until off-street facilities are available for the displaced vehicles.

Downtown Areas Cited
Allanson said that downtown areas of many cities contained

"hopelessly outmoded and inefficient" building on sites that would be ideal for off-street parking. These buildings, he said, include many mills, warehouses and, in some cases, slum areas.

Addison Mallory, executive secretary of the New York State Conference of Mayors, said motorists insisted on parking places adjacent to their destinations. That insistence, he said, has complicated the parking problem.

Allanson held that any solution to parking problems that did not take into account an aversion to walking "was no solution at all."

Mallory said steps taken by communities to alleviate parking problems had included:

1. Municipal programs financed by tax revenues and maintained by income from parking facilities.

2. Construction financed by assessments against commercial interests that benefited from new facilities.

Given Tax Exemptions
3. Granting of tax exemptions to owners of privately financed parking facilities.

4. Formation of parking lot authorities, such as those in White Plains and Fulton, to float bonds to finance construction, with income from the lots used to retire the bonds.

5. Inclusion of parking facilities in planning programs for which federal aid is available.

6. Ordinances requiring that parking facilities be incorporated in construction of new business establishments in areas of existing or potential parking problems.

Favors Mitchell
HERKIMER (AP)—Republican Sen. Walter Van Wiggeren of nearby Iliion thinks Republican Sen. MacNeil Mitchell of Manhattan would make a good lieutenant governor.

Van Wiggeren told a Herkimer County Republican dinner last night that a large majority of the GOP members of the Senate favor the nomination of Mitchell in the 1958 state election.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
EQUALITY AMONG GOONS

The "federalization" of the National Guard, or militia, of Arkansas, is a hot commentary on the idea that if Uncle subsidizes the public schools, he will never, oh never, control them!

In his first telegram to Governor Faubus, the President reminded him that Uncle was paying for the Guards' uniforms, arms and equipment. Now see who has them!

Arkansas and the other States should have raised their own tax-money to equip their own militia, rather than let Uncle tax them to do the same thing.

For, as the Supreme Court has said with respect to Federal aid to farmers, it is hardly unconstitutional for Uncle to control whatever he subsidizes.

It is true, of course, that even if the militia were equipped by each State, it may be unconstitutional for Uncle to control what "suppress insurrections." But if the acts of hoodlums in one city constitute an "insurrection," then what shall we say of dynamiting in telephone, railroad and shipping strikes which obstruct the commerce of several States, or of the nation, itself?

Uncle never treats these goons as insurrectionists. The Constitution says that Uncle shall protect the States from "domestic violence" but only when the State Legislature or the Governor asks Uncle for help.

If we are to have "equal protection of the law" against goons, without a request from the State Legislature or Governor, let's either have it against all goons, or none.

Two Start Shop After Hobbies Take Most Time
First it was just a hobby, then it became a "sideline" business, and now it is a full-time business venture—that's the story behind the opening of the Catskill Valley Hobby Shop, located at the head of Broadway at 73 Albany Avenue.

Kingston's newest store is operated by Harold and June Henion, identified for many years with the dry-cleaning business. In fact, "Chick" Henion, as he is known to many people of this area, began his business career as an employee of the Gov. Clinton Cleaners—an establishment which he later purchased and operated with his wife.

"I became interested in hobbies, particularly model railroad building, about the time the Kingston Model Railroad Club was organized in 1937," said Chick Henion. "At that time I was 'scratch-building' a double-O model railroad in my cellar. Those were the days when you couldn't go out and purchase any parts—you had to make them yourself!"

Interest Grows
During the years since the introduction to scale model railroad building, both Mr. and Mrs. Henion became more interested in hobbies of various kinds, and also more acutely aware of the lack of a local outlet where hobby supplies could be purchased.

Finally on Nov. 19, 1956, the Henions opened a hobby shop in the basement of their residence on Lucas Avenue Extension. "It was strictly a sparetime or 'side-line' business," stated Mr. Henion who was then the proprietor of the dry-cleaning establishment on Foxhall Avenue.

Two years found the so-called "side-line" business becoming increasingly popular with hobbyists of the area, and the expansion which came as a result of demands for new items on the hobby market soon brought excessive demands on both the spare-time of the Henions and the space in their cellar.

Decided on Full Time
"We held a family conference," said Mrs. Henion, "and decided that we either had to give up one business or the other. So—we decided that our overgrown hobby business would be the one to keep and continue to expand!"

Today the Catskill Valley Hobby Shop is established in the corner store in the Dressel building. Large show windows and modern display racks feature the 73 Albany Avenue location. Hobbyists of all kinds will be served at the new location—"they're welcome, whether they want to make a purchase or are just looking for information," remarked Chick Henion.

The meeting, in the form of a panel discussion, will begin at 8 p. m. at the West Hurley Firehall on Route 28.

Mrs. Kerr, well-known throughout Ulster County, will have a message of special interest to the women, it is reported. Mrs. Kerr told The Freeman today that the budget "must be balanced by the woman in the majority of our homes. With taxes taking more and more of the budget money the women are aware that they must know more about politics and government."

She said women were attending "these meetings" in increasing numbers.

The questions they ask me indicate they intend to do something about the ever-increasing tax problem at every opportunity they have to do so."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 24, 1957

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR

Citizens of Ulster County will have the opportunity on Election Day to vote on the County Administrator Plan. A special committee of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors studied four different systems, which may be instituted under the Alternative County Government Law, and recommended the administrator method.

The proposal on the ballot will appear as Local Question Number A and the form of submission will be "Shall the County of Ulster adopt the County Administrator form of government?"

The main purpose of the proposal is to provide an administrative head for the county, which is felt necessary because of the increasing number of new residents and a greater demand for public services.

The county administrator would be appointed by the Board of Supervisors by a majority vote of the whole board and may be removed by a two-thirds vote of such board. He would serve the same term as that of the board which appoints him.

The Commissioners of Elections of Ulster County explain that the legislative powers would remain in the Board of Supervisors and the board would continue to be vested with all existing functions, powers and duties and in addition may create, organize, alter, consolidate or abolish administrative units and transfer and assign their functions, powers and duties; adopt budgets, fix all compensation except the judiciary; establish the number of assistants and employees in the administrative units; fix amounts of bonds; employ legal, financial and technical advisers, make appropriations, levy taxes, enact acts and make rules and regulations.

From the foregoing it would seem that a qualified and capable administrator could serve a county board very efficiently without infringing upon its policy-making powers.

The county executive would be the administrative head of the county with powers of supervision, direction and control over functions of all administrative units of the county. He would be the budget officer and perform such additional duties as may be delegated to him by the Board of Supervisors. He also would approve bonds and present to the board from time to time such information concerning the affairs of the county as he may deem necessary or as requested by the board. In addition, when delegated to him, he may coordinate the various activities of the county and unify the management of its affairs and cause audits to be made and supervise administration of any functions transferred to the county from local units.

A competent executive directing this modern form of government administration could meet the increased demands for services by the people in an efficient business-like manner.

MENTAL DIAGNOSIS

The American Academy of General Practice has announced that general physicians have joined the fight against mental illness. This makes a lot of sense.

Very often it is the family doctor who has the first inkling of serious mental or emotional disturbance. These may show up, in the first place, as persistent headaches or ungrounded complaints of one kind or another. Or such disturbance may appear as a belief in a diseased condition where, as a matter of diagnostic fact, there is no disease.

Family doctors are in an ideal strategic position to catch mental and nervous troubles at their outset. They are familiar, in many instances, with families as whole groups. They know the family environment and background. A determination on their part to help combat mental illness is greatly to be desired.

We are living in a tense and troubled time. Our mental hospitals are overcrowded, and new ones can't be built fast enough. If the old family doctor can cut

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

ARE WE CONFORMISTS?

It is fashionable at the moment to speak of conformity as a characteristic of the American people, although we are probably the most diverse people on earth. I saw a piece in the magazine, "Foreign Affairs," which contained this sentence: "... Canada is a country that cherishes diversity, not conformity." From the remainder of the article by Miriam Chapin, this was intended to contrast Canada and the United States.

But the silliness of it is that America's principal social problem is how to lessen the effects of diversity when they are socially unbeneficial to the nation. For instance, today we use the word, integration; in a prior generation, we used the word, assimilation. Israel Zangwill spoke of us as a melting pot. Hundreds of newspapers and magazines are published in the United States in almost every language written by man. Our religious varieties run into the hundreds and if Brooklyn has become a city of synagogues, Washington has its mosque and San Francisco its Buddhist temple.

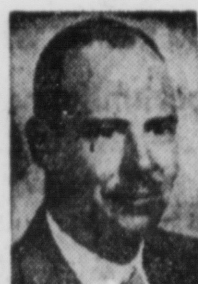

This writer makes the point, which "Foreign Affairs" prints, that "Montreal had theater and literature when Chicago was a swamp." Why compare Montreal to Chicago which is a comparatively new city? If such a comparison is important, which I think it is not, New York, Boston and Philadelphia are the older cities. The theater flourished in New York in colonial times and Boston and Philadelphia produced literature. Comparisons are not only odious; generally, they are stupid because conditions vary so. If Chicago is to be held out as an example of one country, why not Windsor of the other? Or even, Port Arthur? What this writer attempts to establish is the superiority of one country over another by comparisons which do not compare and prove nothing. For instance, what great truth does this establish:

"... Canadians turn out by the million for a royal tour, and display their devotion to the young Queen, while being notably hardheaded about loans to her Government. And as for hardheadedness, there is far more of hard steady drinking and less of drunkenness than in parallel social circles below the border."

Americans have turned out by the thousands and have watched on television by the tens of millions the same young Queen, who is not their Queen but whom they admire as a hard-working woman who does well by her own country even if we do inquire, but only occasionally, what is being done with the billions of dollars that we, the United States, have poured into her country. Compared to what we have given Great Britain, Canada's loans are trifling, particularly when it is noted that Canada's economy is based upon American capital which we pour into that country annually, both as investment and as trade. For instance, Canada's commerce would be moribund were it not for the purchase in the United States of Canadian newsprint, Canadian whiskey, Canadian rye, and now Canadian metals and minerals.

Therefore this boastful writer talks about hardheadedness. She might note that it is fortunate that the United States is a generous and not a hardheaded country. Were we not generous, good-natured and sentimental, we might find means to send Canada's economy whirling into a nice little vortex by evading purchases there when Canadians complain about our investments in that country and we might have laws tightening tax procedures which could make it unprofitable for Americans seeking to avoid taxation to switch to Canada as a tax haven. We shall, undoubtedly, not do anything of the sort, because we are not hardheaded. As for drunkenness, she may have a point there; the Canadians being primarily of Scotch or French origin may have a higher threshold for the imbibing of alcohol than most Americans, but what does that prove?

I read this article and wondered why it was printed in the austere, serious and important "Foreign Affairs," which has such pretensions at being authoritative. But there is no telling what axes are ground and by whom these days. Miss Chapin was announced as correspondent in Canada for the "Christian Science Monitor." If she wants to see non-conformity, I would like to take her through any 10 blocks of New York City where she can pass from Italy to Canton, China, to Syria and Tel Aviv, Africa and Ireland without buying a ticket for ship, plane, railroad, or even subway.

Physicians Adhere to High Set of Standards

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

There is widespread confusion on the meaning of medical ethics. Therefore, I shall base this column on the revised Principles of Medical Ethics recently adopted by the House of Delegates of the American Medical Assn.

These principles are intended to aid physicians in maintaining a high level of ethical conduct. They are not laws but standards by which a physician may determine the propriety of his conduct in his relationship with patients, colleagues and members of allied professions.

The principal objective of the medical profession is to render service to humanity. Physicians should merit the confidence of patients entrusted to their care, rendering to each a full measure of service and devotion.

Physicians should strive continually to improve medical knowledge and skill, and should make available to their patients and colleagues the benefits of their professional attainments.

A physician should practice a method of healing founded on a scientific basis.

THE MEDICAL profession should safeguard the public and itself against physicians deficient in moral character or professional competence. Physicians should observe all laws, uphold the dignity and honor of the profession and accept its self-imposed disciplines. They should expose, without hesitation, illegal or unethical conduct of fellow members of the profession.

A physician may choose whom he will serve. In an emergency, however, he should render service to the best of his ability. Having undertaken the care of a patient, he may not neglect him; and unless he has been discharged he may discontinue his services only after giving adequate notice. He should not solicit patients.

A PHYSICIAN should not dispose of his service under terms or conditions which tend to interfere with or impair the free and complete exercise of his medical judgment and skill or tend to cause a deterioration of the quality of medical care.

His fee should be commensurate with the services rendered and the patient's ability to pay. A physician should seek consultation upon request; in doubtful or difficult cases; or whenever it appears that the quality of medical service may be enhanced thereby.

A PHYSICIAN may not reveal the confidences entrusted to him in the course of medical attendance, or the deficiencies he may observe in the character of patients, unless he is required to do so by law or unless it becomes necessary in order to protect the welfare of the individual or of the community.

The honored ideals of the medical profession imply that the responsibilities of the physician extend not only to the individual, but also to society.

down on this tragic toll he will have proved once again that he is indeed the best friend most families have.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Increases of from 30 to 150 per cent in the estimated costs of two small atomic power reactors have brought charges from Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) and others that the United States is lagging badly in the effort to produce cheap electricity from nuclear energy.

To build a 22,000-kilowatt reactor for the Elk River, Minn., Rural Cooperative Power Assn., the American Machine and Foundry submitted an original bid of $8,930,000. The company now asks that its bid be raised to $11,750,000.

To build a 10,000-kw. reactor for Wolverine Electric Co.-op. at Hershey, Mich., Foster Wheeler Corp. submitted an original bid of $5,472,000. This offer was then withdrawn. The company now offers to build the reactor only on an open-end cost basis which it estimates at $14,436,000.

These big cost increases reflect the experience on the 100,000-kw. reactor being built at Shippingport, Pa. It will be the first big commercial atomic power plant in the United States, going into operation in 1959.

It was originally estimated to cost 37 million dollars. Revised estimates put the cost at 55 million.

These higher costs seem to justify a natural conclusion that atomic power can never be made competitive with conventional steam or hydro-electric power.

This would push the widely heralded atomic age well into the next century.

IN SPITE OF THESE developments, Louis H. Roddis Jr., director of the Atomic Energy

Commission's reactor development division says he is still optimistic on the outlook.

The trouble is simply that the field of commercial atomic power development is so new that engineers can't make accurate estimates.

He cites one example: If you assume that an atomic fuel element will give off energy for 500 hours, the cost will be an unrevealed so much. If you assume it will last 10,000 hours, the cost will be one twentieth as much. Engineers don't yet know which is right.

There are 60 to 80 assumptions of this kind that have to be made in estimating the costs on any atomic plant reactor, says Roddis. By making high or low estimates on any of these components, any engineer can come up with almost any desired figure on what the costs of an atomic power plant will be.

EXPERIMENTAL ATOMIC POWER PLANTS which will get into production in the United States in the next two years will produce electricity at a cost of from 20 to 50 mills per kilowatt. When this is contrasted with present U. S. costs of from four to nine mills per kilowatt for conventional steam power—half of it capital, half operation—it is seen they can't compete.

In the first round of really commercial atomic power reactors, to come into production between 1960 and 1964, costs are expected to be from 10 to 13 mills per kilowatt.

In the second round program, coming into production from 1965 to 1969, costs may get down to from 9 to 11 mills.

Only by 1980 will atomic power costs be brought down to the six or seven mills that will make the electricity they produce fully competitive with conventional steam power.

ventional steam power in most areas of the United States.

MUCH OF THE HIGH COST now going into atomic power reactors today has to be charged off to research and development, Roddis points out. He cites the example of General Electric's 5,000-kw. reactor at Villeticos Laboratory, near Pleasanton, Calif.

GE put its own money into this project as a pilot model for the 180,000-kw. reactor which the company will build for Commonwealth Edison at Dresden, Ill.

But as a result of the Villeticos experiments, GE has been able to promote the sale of two small reactors to American and Foreign Power, for use in Latin America.

For the U. S. government, the Atomic Energy Commission's contribution to civilian power reactor development is a 192-million-dollar subsidy spread over the three years 1956-58.

Ave Brands Report 'Lie' on Nassau Tie

GLEN COVE — Gov. Harrison denied today that Democrats wanted to use the proposed state constitutional convention as a way to annex Nassau County to New York City.

"This is just another one of those big lies" put forward by Republicans, the governor said at a meeting of the Women's Democratic Club.

The question of holding a convention will go before the voters of the state in the Nov. 5 election. The Democratic leaders are solidly in favor of a "yes" vote. Some Republican leaders are opposed, but the Republican state organization has decided not to take any stand.

In a prepared speech, Harrison said "the Republican leaders who are making this preposterous statement are trying to throw up a smokescreen to make Nassau County residents forget that the present method of apportioning seats in the Legislature discriminates as unfairly against them as it does all the other urban and suburban areas in the state. And it is going to get worse."

The Democratic governor did not name the Republican leaders specifically.

Rogers' Selection Reflects Aim for Younger Cabinet

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The expected has happened—William P. Rogers, forty-four years old, now Deputy Attorney General, has been selected by President Eisenhower to succeed Attorney General Brownell.

The President is desirous of elevating younger men to Cabinet posts, and there will be other changes in the next few months, with the idea that the younger Republicans will occupy places in the Cabinet before the 1960 campaign begins.

Why did Mr. Brownell leave? His decision to withdraw from public office was made last spring. Whether or not the President's failure to give the Attorney General a Supreme Court post—as has been the case with other Attorney Generals in the past—had anything to do with it will probably never be known. Certainly, Mr. Brownell saw no future for himself in government here. He is an accomplished lawyer, and the financial success which Thomas E. Dewey—Mr. Brownell's close friend—has recently made in the private practice of law may have had a real bearing on the decision to leave the Department of Justice.

Not Result of Bias Affair

As for rumors that the "segregation-integration" dispute was related in some way to Mr. Brownell's resignation and that he now will avoid being questioned by Congress at its next session concerning the alleged illegality in the use of Federal troops, it is asserted that the role of the Department of Justice in advising the President in the Arkansas situation has not been one of making decisions but primarily to set forth the scope of the President's powers.

So far as this correspondent has been able to piece together the story of what happened on the fateful Monday, Sept. 23, when Mr. Eisenhower decided to send Federal troops into Arkansas, it was strictly a Presidential decision. The Department of Justice lawyers had prepared for several weeks in advance memoranda on what the President could do in the event of a crisis in the enforcement of court orders on "desegregation." Rumors are current that Warren Olney, chief of the criminal division of the department who recently resigned favored more extreme measures than were taken, including the arrest of many of the persons at the scene of the disorder at Little Rock, involving possibly hundreds of citizens.

What Did Happen

But what actually did happen is that the President was told by telephone from Little Rock on Monday, Sept. 23, that the nine Negro children had been having trouble inside the school. The Mayor of Little Rock sent word to the President that he feared the children might have to be withdrawn from classes. This aroused the President's ire, and he determined then and there to use Federal troops. He did not follow the customary method of deputizing several thousand assistants to the United States Marshal as provided in laws that are normally used to enforce court orders.

The new Attorney General has many friends among Southern members of Congress and has co-operated with Sen. Eastland, Democrat, of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and head of the subcommittee on Internal Security. Mr. Rogers has been an inveterate foe of Communism and has been energetic in helping to root security risks out of government.

Naturally, the Senate will use the occasion afforded in considering the nomination of Mr. Rogers to hold hearings on the operations of the Department of Justice with special reference to the use of Federal troops in the case. But when the facts have been developed and laid on the table, it is likely that confirmation of Mr. Rogers will be voted. The Senate, even when in control of the political party opposite to a President, has always recognized the right of a President to choose his own cabinet advisers.

Mr. Rogers is an able public servant and will make an efficient Attorney General. He is a close friend of Vice-President Nixon and one of the more promising of the younger generation of Republicans in the Eisenhower regime. His selection is an encouragement to those who believe that, when possible, the No. 2 man in a government department should be promoted if a vacancy in the top job occurs.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —Every happy fat man has a major problem in life—how to put up with the envy of his dieting friends.

They begrudge him each mouth-watering calorie he consumes; each pound by which he outweighs them they take as a personal insult.

If a fat man were to take seriously all the jibes thrown at him, he would quickly worry himself to a skeleton. At the point, of course, his friends would start exclaiming solicitously, "Gee, pal, you don't look good—you took off too many chins."

Target of Old

The fat man has been the target of medical concern since Hippocrates, the father of medicine, observed 400 years before Christ: "Fat men are more likely to die suddenly than the slender." But throughout all history the fat man also has been the butt of slanderous attacks that are based, not so much on concern for his welfare, as upon envy of his well-being.

It is true that Shakespeare did point out some of the virtues of the portly when he quoted Julius Caesar as saying, "Let me have men about me that are fat, sleek-headed men, and such as sleep o' nights."

But Shakespeare dealt from the bottom of the deck, too. He had Hamlet say, "Oh, that this too solid flesh would melt, thaw and resolve itself into a dew!" And in "Love's Labor Lost," he wrote: "Fat paunches have lean pates, and dainty bites."

"Make rich the ribs, but bankrupt quite the wits."

Has Literary Pals

Has the fat man no answer to the barrage of insults he meets except a cheerful smile? Yes, happily, he has literary friends.

Washington Irving, who threw a wide shadow himself, pointed out that the fat man is of an essentially peaceful nature.

"Who ever hears," he asked, "of fat men heading a riot, or herding together in turbulent mobs?"

The tolerance of the fat man is proverbial. He takes his philosophy from Ecclesiastes: "A man hath no better thing under the sun than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry."

The fat man can console himself also with the fact that, unlike the skinny man, he is no hypocrite. As Bernard Shaw pointed out, "There is no love, sincerer than the love of food."

A Hope to the Fat

Heaven itself is held out as a hope to the fat. In 1609 William Lithgow wrote:

"He that eateth well drinketh well, he that drinketh well sleeth well, he that sleeth well winneth not, and he that winneth not goeth straight through purgatory to paradise."

And where does that leave for skinny people to go? There is an old Italian proverb that aptly describes the date of dieters who make a religion out of counting their calories. This is it: "Who fasts but does no other good saves his bread but goes to hell."

Please pass the potatoes.

Amendment 6 Deals With Forest Roads

Proposed Amendment No. 6, which will be found at the top of the ballot on election machines along with the questions and other proposed amendments, has the purpose and effect to permit the relocation, reconstruction and maintenance for the purpose of eliminating dangerous curves and grades of not more than fifty miles of existing state highways in the forest preserve, provided a total of not more than four hundred acres of forest preserve land shall be used and that no single relocated portion of any highway shall exceed one mile in length.

This is the final in the series of complete text of the proposals published by The Freeman as an educational feature so voters may know what they are voting for or against before they go to the polls.

Herewith is the complete text of Proposed Amendment No. 6. Section 1. Resolved (if Senate concur), That section one of article fourteen of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the state from constructing, completing and maintaining any highway heretofore specifically authorized by constitutional amendment, nor from constructing and maintaining not more than twenty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide on the north, east and northwest slopes of Whiteface mountain in Essex county, nor from constructing and maintaining not more than twenty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on the slopes of Belleayre mountain in Ulster and Delaware counties and not more than thirty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on the slopes of Gore, South and Pete Gay mountains in Warren county, nor from relocating, reconstructing and maintaining a total of not more than fifty miles of existing state highways for the purpose of eliminating the hazards of dangerous curves and grades, provided a total of not more than four hundred acres of forest preserve land shall be used for such purpose and that no single relocation portion of any highway shall exceed one mile in length.

2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred fifty-seven, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

Driver Is Held After Accident At Napanoch Span

Three persons were injured Wednesday evening in a two-car accident on Route 209 about 100 feet south of the bridge at Napanoch and the driver of one car was arrested on charges of reckless driving and being an unlicensed operator.

Treated at Ellenville Medical Center were Rita Smith, 15, and Louis Goslin, 18, Napanoch, who received neck injuries and suffered from shock. Edward Garlick, 40, Cottekill, received a bruised elbow. He was arrested by State Police from Ellenville station on a charge of reckless driving and being an unlicensed operator. He will be given a hearing later before Justice Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson.

State police reported the accident happened about 9:30 p. m. when Garlick's car, traveling north, crossed the center line of the road on a curve and the two cars collided. The Goslin car was going south, the reports said.

Army Names Junta As Guatemala Rule

GUATEMALA (AP) — The army selected three colonels as a junta today to take over the Guatemalan government in the wake of disorders arising from last Sunday's disputed presidential election.

Results of the election were thrown out by the army last night after the second fatal demonstration in two days. Then, after a 12-hour meeting of 200 officers, the new junta was named. Heading it is Col. Oscar Mendoza Azurdia. The other members are Col. Gonzalo Yurrita Nova and Col. Roberto Lorenzana.

The high command had announced that the Sunday balloting was nullified "in order that a new election may be called at the first opportunity to solve within legal principles the presidential succession." There was no indication when new voting would take place.

Winning Photos On Display at Onteora School

The prize winning prints from the National High School Photographic awards are currently being exhibited at the Onteora Central School during this week. Miss Evelyn Stone, a citizenship education teacher and advisor to the Photography Club at Onteora, is responsible for the display now on exhibit in the school building. The Photography Club, under the direction of Miss Stone, takes all photographs for the school newspaper.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Eastman Kodak Company. It recognizes achievements in photography on a national basis with cash prizes and certificate awards.

Fifty prizes, including the top winners in the 11th annual National High School Photographic Awards, are on exhibit. The exhibit includes the 16 major winning photographs from the 1956 competition, in addition to a selection of pictures that received honorable mention awards. These photographs represent the excellent work in this field being done by high school students throughout the United States and its territories.

School activities is the main theme of the photographs. However, an additional wide variety of everyday subjects is included, such as funtime shots, eye-stoppers for composition and scenic beauty, photos of babies and children and striking pictures of birds and animals.

General Strike Ends

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A 48-hour general strike called by 62 unions ended at midnight. The government and the press both called it a failure.

Newspapers termed the outcome a victory for the government of provisional president Pedro E. Aramburu. Aramburu stood fast against the strikers' demands that the government lift its wage freeze to meet soaring living costs.

Grant DeSilva
Grant DeSilva, 85, a former village trustee of the village of Fleischmanns and for many years proprietor of the store at Boiceville, died Wednesday night at his home in Boiceville. Born at Grants Mills, Delaware County on Jan. 24, 1873, he was married to Irma Shaver at Grants Mills in 1896. During the period of the building of the D & H Railroad he ran the hotel in Arena. In 1910 he moved to Fleischmanns where he operated a farm for eight years. In 1920 he became a village trustee of the Village of Fleischmanns, serving one term. In 1922 he purchased the Winne Store at Ashokan which he operated for a year. In 1923 he took up residence in Boiceville where he continued to operate until 1935 when he retired. His wife died in 1936. One son, Rudy DeSilva, who resides at Boiceville and conducts the store survives. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Gormley Funeral Parlor in Phoenixa. Burial will be in the Shandaken Rural Cemetery.

Dior Dies, Was

three years ago, at the age of 42, to leukemia.

Dior was virtually unknown until 1947, when he burst to the forefront of the bitterly competitive fashion trade with the revolutionary longer, full skirts of his new look. In that one season he became the dictator of high style, and never since had anyone come near topping him from his pinnacle.

His father, a wealthy chemical manufacturer in Granville, France planned a diplomatic career for Christian Dior. But the family fortune went in the depression and Dior left his political science studies to start a small art gallery in Paris.

Illness forced him out of that, and after his recovery he had to sell his last valuable painting, by Raoul Dufy, to live. A friend who was designing dresses and hats persuaded Dior to try his hand and helped him get a start.

He worked for a fashion magazine for a time, peddled his designs with not too great success and in World War II was mobilized as a private.

After the war Dior started thinking about setting up his own shop. In 1946 he got the backing of Marcel Bouscass, the wealthy textile manufacturer. From his first collection, he was a fabulous success.

Though his success was dependent on women and he spent his long working hours surrounded by them, Dior never married and was not known to have had a romantic attachment. He traveled widely and lived in a small house at the edge of Paris, surrounded by dogs, cats and a magnificent collection of antiques and art objects.

Denies Hoffa Delay

NEW YORK — Federal District Judge William B. Herlands today denied motions seeking delays in trial of James R. Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, on perjury and wiretapping charges.

The defense motions contended that recent publicity given the union chief would make it impossible for him to obtain a fair trial at present.

The cases will appear on the federal court calendar tomorrow for the purpose of setting trial dates.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said he would move for trial of the perjury charge first and that he was hopeful the trial could start next week.

The perjury charge is based on answers given by Hoffa to a federal racketeers grand jury here last spring.

If convicted, he would face a possible sentence of five years and a $2,000 fine on each of five perjury counts against him.

May Ease Money Policy

NEW YORK — The New York Times today said in a Washington story that the federal reserve system has decided to ease its tight money policy.

There was no immediate comment from the reserve board.

The decision does not involve as yet, the Times said, any change in the basic policy of restraint. It added:

"But it is a significant switch toward less pressure on the nation's banking system. It could mean some lowering in short-term interest rates and some easing in the availability of credit."

display as an indication to neighborhood solicitors that they have already given, Kowalenko pointed out.

He explained that the solicitor may call to see if anyone else at that address wishes to contribute.

Captains of canvassing teams will submit initial reports on the neighborhood drive to the Red Feather headquarters, YWCA building, 209 Clinton Avenue.

The Chest represents a package deal—ten agencies in one drive.

As Chest leaders put it, the inclusion of 10 agencies in a single campaign offers an opportunity to the public to "give once for all."

Goal 8.9 Per Cent Up

Frank E. Bourke, general chairman, recommends a contribution of $1 for each agency per wage earner "at the very minimum" if the Chest drive is to go over the top.

Another figure sometimes suggested in Red Feather campaigns is a contribution of one-half of one per cent of gross income.

Executive Secretary John Warren calls attention to the fact that there are two more agencies in the Chest this year than last year and that the goal is 8.9 per cent higher this year than in 1956.

Cold Air on Way

By The Associated Press
More rain dampened well-soaked areas in the midwest and moved into eastern sections of the country today.

Strong northerly winds fanned cold air from the north central region south and eastward, causing a sharp drop in temperatures in some areas. The chiller air extended southward through Texas and eastward through the Great Lakes region and Mississippi Valley.

It was below freezing again this morning from extreme northwest sections of the Great Lakes westward through the Dakotas, Montana and northern Idaho. As the cold air headed south and eastward, readings dropped to the 40s and 50s in most areas, about 15 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

RT. REV. MSGR. JOSEPH F. CONNOLLY

First Mass . . .

and Italian, and hears confessions in all three.

The monsignor likes this area, has made many friends since arriving, he said, and feels confident that St. Philomena's parish will grow and flourish.

Real Difficult Job

Finding a temporary place for Masses took 350 miles of continuous driving about the Town of Ulster, and it wasn't until yesterday afternoon that Msgr. Connolly came upon the Cook building.

"I was driving over the bypass, spotted the place and looked through the windows," he told a reporter. "It seemed real desirable, so I carried on from there."

Joseph F. Saccoman, local realtor, assisted Msgr. Connolly in completing arrangements for its use.

Starting on Feast Day

Msgr. Connolly pointed out that St. Philomena's is making its actual start with Masses on the Feast of Christ the King, Sunday. Cardinal Spellman chose the name for the church, he said.

After graduation from the Irish Christian Brothers High School, All Hallows, New York City, Msgr. Connolly attended Fordham University, then St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie. He studied in Europe six years and earned degrees in theology and Canon Law.

Returning to St. Joseph's Seminary, he taught theology for nine years. He served as judge of the Archdiocesan Matrimonial Tribunal for 10 years, and was director of an orphanage for Catholic Charities.

The monsignor also served as an executive officer in charge of Pontifical relief missions in the Arab-Israeli war area and organized and directed the archdiocesan program for Puerto Ricans.

Wallander . . .

other phases of the local police system.

Five 'Threats' Listed

Peter Keresman, of this city, in the Police Conference letter asking a statewide study of law enforcement agencies, emphasized five "threats" to public safety. They are:

1—Not enough men are attracted to police ranks.

2—Increased loss of experienced men.

3—An inadequate number of policemen to cope with lawlessness.

4—Increasing use of qualified "fill-in" men.

5—Lack of training programs for new men.

Points to Industry

Keresman asked that the study include police pay and working conditions compared with industry, the effect of undermanned police departments, and the attitude of young men toward a police career.

"Public safety, like health and education," he said, "is the state's responsibility. Thus, it is the duty of the state to concern itself with the law-enforcement situation."

"The need for career policemen," he emphasized, "now keenly felt, is being projected into the future operations of police departments."

Has 'Open Mind'

Wallander, asked if he would look into the recent probe of the police department, said he came here with "an open mind," and indicated that the probe would not necessarily influence his study.

He said he would "take a look into" the department's procedures, talks with its personnel, weigh the geographical aspects of the city, determine its needs and its residential characteristics; find in which areas crime was greatest, and the extent of the city's youth and juvenile delinquency problems.

Wide Consideration

All aspects of the local police problem will be considered, he said, and his report will deal with required manpower and salaries for a city of Kingston's size.

The former commissioner agreed with Mayor Stang on the point that it was "good business" to conduct such a survey so that the city could achieve the best possible police force.

The mayor emphasized that the point was that it was "good business" to conduct such a survey so that the city could achieve the best possible police force.

Asked if he would talk with District Attorney Howard C. St. John, while on the preliminary survey, Wallander indicated that it would be to his advantage to do so.

Both Wallander and his assistant, Pleydell, are associated with Security Service Associates, 93 Worth Street, New York.

Has Long Experience

Wallander, an appointee of the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, served as New York's police commissioner in the 1940's. He had served the police department as a physical instructor, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, inspector and deputy chief inspector. He had also served the city as a civil defense head and as a deputy mayor. He is now engaged in organizing police work in conjunction with the city's housing projects.

The preliminary survey is being conducted without cost to the city. Whether a full study and diagnosis of the department will be made after his report on the preliminary survey will depend upon action by the police board and Common Council.

The survey, which started this morning, as originally announced, was due to continue tomorrow, but Wallander said that by working tonight he might be able to obtain all the information needed for his first report. If the final study is approved, he said, he probably would be in the city for 10 days.

3 Schools . . .

which has jurisdiction over the 57 counties of the state outside New York City, said it kept a record of only those deaths caused by Asian flu. It had confirmed four such deaths, a department spokesman said.

The other upstate deaths were reported to The Associated Press. Many of the victims died of pneumonia that followed flu attacks, doctors said.

Reuter Staff

this morning in the office of Col. Frank Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion. Harkin's office and neighboring rooms have been offered to Reuter for use in his investigation.

To Continue Next Week

Reuter will be on hand today and tomorrow. His staff will continue the probe next week.

Asked if he could say approximately how long the investigation would require, Reuter replied that he had no way of predicting when his office might be able to report its findings to the governor.

No Link With Election

Asked if he thought such a report might be ready before the November elections, he told The Freeman, "We can't run an investigation with one eye on elections."

He said that his staff at the armory would vary in size as the investigation proceeds, would be smaller or larger according to the requirements of the probe.

His office also has a number of other investigations in progress in other parts of the state, including one in Rochester which "roughly parallels" the Kingston situation.

Tells About Rochester

He explained that in Rochester a police officer was indicted for burglary and during his trial presented evidence that other police officers had also been involved in burglaries in the Rochester area.

Following the conviction of the defendant, the Commissioner of Public Safety (Rochester) conducted a departmental hearing after which he issued a report that no evidence of such burglaries had been found. The Commissioner of Public Safety failed, however, to list in his report any specifications of what he did find, according to Reuter.

Nor was the testimony taken by the Rochester commissioner fully made public.

There appeared to be considerable dissatisfaction with the results of the departmental investigation conducted by the Commissioner of Public Safety. Gov. Harriman ordered a state investigation by Reuter's office.

Won't Prejudice Action

Reuter said that in the Kingston investigation he would "bear in mind" that trial of four police officers had been postponed until after his probe was completed and that the commission would not prejudice the duties of the district attorney or police department in law enforcement activities.

He was asked to comment on a request by the New York State Police Conference that Gov. Harriman designate an agency to study the law enforcement situation throughout the state.

He pointed out that in the communication to Gov. Harriman, signed by Peter Keresman, executive secretary of the Police Conference, there were points containing "some elements" he had observed in various communities of the state, that police forces in most communities were operated on a short supply of manpower, and that police departments were in competition with private industry where high wages very generally prevail.

Matter of Finances

It is not a problem curious to New York State, he said, pointing out that it was a problem which could be remedied by higher taxes. As a taxpayer himself he said he was aware that such tax increases were "always a serious matter."

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill C of C
Regular Meeting

WALLKILL — The Wallkill Chamber of Commerce held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening with Edward C. Masten as chairman of the Merchants Committee in charge. Other members of the committee were J. A. Ronk, Clifford Quick and George Parlman, assisting.

At the business portion of the meeting, Wm. Stewart expressed his thanks to the RDC Committee in obtaining the new industries of Wallkill and C. E. Terwilliger as chairman explained a little about the ARMO Steel Plant Operations and the Trends, Inc., which recently purchased the Borden Farm property. He felt that the ARMO Outfit would probably bring benefits to Wallkill, since it is a stable company with financial independence of its own. Interestingly enough Wallkill was chosen because of its good school, its modern and progressive buildings, and of its natural beauty in a rural setting; as well as its accessibility to good Eastern markets of the Company.

It was also noted that the VirTis Co., Inc., a Laboratory Research Co. had also located near Wallkill on Route 208 in the past few months.

It was announced that a Bloodmobile will be at the Wallkill Church Hall Building on November 12th from 4 to 8 p. m. for those who have not yet donated blood in the program set up last year in the Chamber under Charles Crist.

Reports were also given on the RID Workshop held in Albany on October 1st, by Mr. Stuart, and the Small Business Workshop held in Kingston October 8th by Clifford Quick.

George Parlman reported on the Christmas lighting of the village and the party and it was unanimously voted to continue the same this year. Mr. Parlman and his committee will set the date in the near future.

Edward C. Masten introduced the speaker of the evening, John Sheehy, guidance supervisor at the Wallkill State Prison, who explained briefly the operation of the medium security program in working to rehabilitate the hopeful citizen, who has been a one time offender. Interestingly enough he stated that only the more cooperative and hopeful prospect for regaining his place in the society again is brought to Wallkill and retained, since this is not a Maximum Security Prison. There are more than 20 trades taught in Wallkill, a full religious program is maintained, a full time psychologist is retained at the Institution, and a part time psychiatrist is available and used when needed.

Making his talk brief, he entertained his audience with informative answers on many questions about the institution, its program, and its inmates which were asked from the floor. He also noted that the Open House Program held this year was very successful, and he hoped that it was to be a regular yearly event, noting that many people had taken advantage of the opportunity in seeing this vast machine at work.

Dinner Election Night

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rose-Sheehy Post, 1034, will hold a ham dinner Election Night at the Legion Home on Bruynswick Turnpike in Wallkill. Co-chairmen of the dinner are Mrs. Evelyn Lawson and Mrs. Dorothy Wickes. Mrs. Fannie Quick is in charge of the dining room. Mrs. Mabel Almquist is ticket chairman and tickets must be secured from the ticket chairman or any member of the Auxiliary by November 4. Servings will be at 5:30 and 7.

Commander's Dinner

The Commander's Dinner will be held on November 7 at the Otto House in Highland. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Dorothy Wickes, unit president, if any member desires to attend.

Fall Conference

Saturday, October 26, the Fall District Conference of the Auxiliary Units will be held in Albany. Delegates from the Rose-Sheehy Ladies Unit will be Mrs. Walter Harris and Mrs. Walter Margraf. Also attending from Wallkill will be Mrs. Marie Flockhart, county chairman; Mrs. Florence Morehouse, county secretary. These two ladies will represent the county unit, but also are members of the Wallkill Unit.

Women's Club Meeting

The ninth district meeting of the Women's Clubs of New York State will be held on October 31, at 10 a. m. at Hotel Thayer in West Point. Members desiring to attend should make reservations with Mrs. Ira Wickner by Thursday, Oct. 24.

Girl Scout Drive

The Wallkill Division of the Ulster County Girl Scout County Fund Drive opened last week and will continue until Nov. 2. Volunteer solicitors interested in Girl Scouting are calling every day at the houses in the area to collect the donations of the civic minded citizens of Wallkill. Mrs. George Brach is chairman and noted that the goal set for Wallkill is $800, with 25 per cent of the money raised remaining in Wallkill for the Girl Scout and Brownie Troop use here. Wallkill it is noted has eight troops, 74 Brownies, 57 Intermediate Scouts, making a total of 131 girls participating in the wholesome program.

Reformed Church Notes

Thursday: 7:30 p. m., choir rehearsal will be held at the church.

Saturday: 6:30 p. m. The postponed Young Adult Meeting will be held in the church hall beginning with a pot luck supper and will be followed by an auction. Alastair MacDonald, a pilot in the Missionary Air Force in Africa, will be present to speak and show pictures of his work. All are urged to attend.

Sunday October 27: Sunday school will convene at 10 a. m. Annual Reformation Day Sunday Observance will follow at 11 a. m. in the church during the regular morning worship hour. The Rev. Walter N. Van Popering will deliver the message and the choir will present the music.

Express Appropriation

The Willing Workers of the Reformed Church here express their appreciation for all those who participated in their annual fair and for those who patronized it also. Fair receipts to date are on the dinner $491.04 and for the booths, $587.82, making a total of $1,078.86. A most successful conclusion to this year's fair in Wallkill.

Laymen's Sunday

Laymen's Sunday was observed at the Wallkill Reformed Church on Sunday. Conducting the service of worship were Addison D. Crowell, Edward T. Seeley, George Vogel, and Paul Schuller in the pulpit. Ushers were Leonard Almquist, Joseph Doolittle, Theodore Masten and Everette Poole. The choir rendered the two anthems, "Sing Alleluia Forth," with Donald Gooley as soloist and Alan Vandemark as soloist; and "Send Out Thy Light" Mrs. Louise Didsbury was at the organ and Jack Henderson was director.

Division, October 25 in the Sheraton-Ten Eyck Hotel there. Speaker at the affair will be A. L. Nickerson, president of the company, who will compliment those with 20 years or more of service.

Those who will attend from the local sector are Leo Kegler, James Gillispie, Melvin J. Short, George A. Snyder, Watson I. Goodrich, Elmer O. Sturdevant, Eugene A. Freer, Vincent Tompkins.

Former Area Man Elected

A former area resident, George C. Koerner, principal of the Castleton School was recently elected vice-president of the Castleton Kiwanis Club of Castleton. The school principal was formerly a teacher at the St. Remy School and is currently a member of the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc.

The World Today

Congress of 1958 May Well Become Sputnik Session

By ED CREAUGH
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next session of Congress may well become known as the "Sputnik session." Lawmakers have been traveling far and wide during Congress' off-season. The word is seeping back that they find the Soviet satellite a prime topic of public concern, right behind such local and more immediately pressing problems as jobs and prices.

This naturally will encourage the Democrats—not that they need much encouragement—to hitchhike on the satellite, so to speak, as an issue to raise against the Eisenhower administration.

GOP Will Help

They can count on some help from Republicans. Only yesterday Sen. Bridges (R-NH) lit into the President's foreign economic adviser, Clarence Randall, for calling Sputnik "a silly bauble." Bridges said the Randall comment was "grossly misleading and irresponsible." The New Hampshire senator is one of the legislators who wants a Senate investigation of the country's satellite and missile program.

President Eisenhower himself has indicated concern over public reaction to Sputnik. He plans a series of speeches—rather urgent in tone, it appears—to reassure the American people about their country's scientific and military progress, among other things.

Eisenhower may be able through his speeches to take off some of the heat. The armed forces may do the same thing by some impressive demonstrations in the missile field. But the fact remains that—even if U. S. officials didn't regard this country as being in a race—the Russians were the first to launch an artificial moon. And the question naturally arises: what else may they be first in?

So Congress will investigate. What else it can do is not clear at this point. Vote more money for missile development; order a shakeup in the country's military-scientific setup? That's a pretty good bet—if the administration doesn't do it first.

Sputnik's effect on Congress will be far-ranging. It already is being cited alternately as evidence that (1) more money should be spent on development of weapons and less on foreign aid, and (2) more money should be spent on foreign aid to counteract the effect of Sputnik.

Quite a flurry, all in all, to be stirred up by what the President has called "one small ball up in the sky."

DIFFERENT MEANING: The person who instigates trouble may be called a "ring leader" today. Oddly enough, when the expression started it was the name given to the person who directed a dance in which the participants danced in a circle or ring.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Many of the popular singers who are presenting their own television shows must have awakened to a disturbing fact by this time. They are not being judged only as singers and performers, as hosts and hostesses; they're also being judged on the basis of their alleged comedy scripts.

It's an unfortunate state of affairs in this season of "variety" programs — unfortunate for the public as well as the stars.

Don't Get Material

There was a time when a singer simply sang, when a host hosted and a hostess hostessed. But not any more. Now they're asked to get hearty laughs as comedians and comediennees too. Possibly they could do it if their writers handed them the material—which, by and large, they haven't thus far.

In the past week, for example, three superb singers and performers launched a new season of TV programs. As singers and performers all were excellent. But two, and to a lesser degree the third, were badly let down by their writers.

Dinah Shore returned to a new season on NBC-TV, happy to report. She has the same sparkle and winsomeness that always marks her performances. When she sang numbers such as "I'll Never Say Never again," it was fine entertainment.

Her guests were well-chosen too: Nanette Fabray, Danny Thomas, Tab Hunter, Dean Jones, Thomas wisely always brings his own material with him. But the others, including Miss Shore, were caught in an embarrassing predicament when the script called for hearty laugh comedy. The material simply wasn't there. The writers completely missed the essence of Miss Shore's and Miss Fabray's personalities.

Caught in a similar predicament was that fine singer and actor, Frank Sinatra, who has started his own program on ABC-TV (Fridays, 9 p. m.). Nothing could have been finer than Sinatra singing such songs as "The Lady Is a Tramp."

In Humorous Sketch

His principal guests seemed wisely chosen too: Bob Hope and Kim Novak. But all three were entangled in a long and humorous sketch that involved Miss Novak being chased around the world by Sinatra and Hope. Miss Novak's boredom with it was showing. You couldn't blame her. It was not actually a comedy script which was handed to them.

The third singer who made her debut with a regular TV program was Patrice Munsel (ABC-TV, Fridays, 8:30 p. m.). It was a delightful show. Relatively, she was the most successful of the three.

Why? From this corner because she did not strive as hard for comedy as the others. In the few minutes when her script did take a stab at humor, great guffaws did not issue from the nation's living rooms.

Unless there are better comedy writers available this season than the home screen, it's asking too much from performers to expect every "variety" show to split our sides with laughter.

Why should Dinah Shore or Frank Sinatra or Patrice Munsel try to be as funny as Jackie Gleason; a smile is enough, ladies and gentlemen. A smile and a song. Just ask Perry Como.

Matter of FACT

George Washington took the first step toward establishing an American military decoration on Aug. 7, 1782, when he permitted his soldiers to wear a heart of purple cloth for unusually meritorious action. This decoration was the forerunner of the present-day "Purple Heart" award conferred upon members of the armed forces wounded in action. The present form was established on the 200th anniversary of Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, 1932.

Libby's Announce Big Coupon Bonus

The families of greater Metropolitan New York will receive the biggest coupon bonus in canned foods history during the week of October 28. Libby, McNeill & Libby, a household buyword for 89 years, will make a mass mailing of coupons good for 10 cents off on each of their ten leading products—total saving, one dollar.

The coupons will cover a wide variety of quality Libby products, including: tomato juice, fruit cocktails, peas, corn, cling peaches, corned beef hash, beef stew, beets, pineapple, and pineapple juice. These basic products provide many fast-fixing meals for millions of Americans every day, and the colorful labels give Mrs. Homemaker new and easy recipe ideas.

Libby's "Big Dollar" coupon savings will be announced by a large space ad in 50 leading newspapers, including The Kingston Daily Freeman.

No JD Insurance

NEW YORK—Going to Sunday school is no "insurance" against juvenile delinquency," says the Rev. Dr. Robert Spike of New York City, who spent six years as chaplain of a boys' detention home. "In all my dealings there, I never found any boy who couldn't conjure up the name of some Sunday school he attended."

Atonement Church Sets Reformation Concert

A Reformation Sunday concert will be presented by the choir of Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties Sunday beginning at 7:30 p. m. Jane Brown, soprano soloist of East Chatham will be guest artist. The augmented choir under the direction of Donald S. Fellows, choirmaster will sing several great anthems of the church and will be heard in a medley of favorite hymns. The program follows: Anthem—"Saviour Thy Children Keep;" solo—"Saviour Hear Us When We Pray," Jane Brown; anthem—"Beside Still Waters," incidental solo, Beverly Dargan; anthem—"Hear Our Prayer;" solo—"Arise Shine For Thy Light Is Come," Jane Brown; anthem—"Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," hymn medley, choral offertory. The Rev. Richard I. Crossland,

Expect Lions Club Openings for Five

Lawrence Carroll, became a 'Knight in Shining Armor' to at least 23 of the 46 members present at this week's Lions Club meeting. The attendance contest, which was to run for six consecutive weeks was to terminate at this meeting. The Austin Simmons team was leading by two points at the beginning of the evening. Hugo Knuart started early in the evening to count the members of his team as they entered the dining room. When all were seated, he found that he was one member short of tying Simmons. With the help of a telephone call he produced Carroll—the tying vote. The contest of course will continue until the tie is broken.

After a meeting of the board of directors of the Lions next week, it is expected that there will be openings for five new Lions. Members were asked to submit their choice of new Lions to Myron Banks, chairman of the committee.

Ben Fein, after many weeks of preparation on his films of Hawaii, is ready to show them to the members. It should be mentioned that the film will be shown with background music.

Town Notes

Mr. and Mrs. George Terpening Jr., of Market Street, Saugerties became the parents of a daughter, Melissa Wednesday at Benedictine Hospital. Mrs. Terpening is the former Katharine Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Ella Stewart of Market Street, Saugerties. The paternal grandparents of the child are Mr. and Mrs. George Terpening Sr., of Saugerties. The Terpenings have three other children, Belinda, Sandra and George. Belinda and Sandra are well known in the area for their appearances as drum majorettes in Saugerties parades. Leonard Sinnott Sr., of Cementon returned to his home Wednesday from Benedictine Hospital. Mrs. Ruth M. Cawein of Woodland Acres, Blue Mountain, Freeman correspondent for Saugerties, returned to her home today from Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flechsenhaar of Sheffield, Mass., were recent visitors of Mrs. Anna Cawein of Maiden-on-Hudson. Mrs. Christina Bartholome of John Street, who was taken ill on Main Street, Saugerties Tuesday is at Kingston Hospital. She is the mother of Mrs. Harold Mills of Livingston Street.

Yule at Home Appears Out for Antarctic Vets

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica —With a bitter storm whipping snow around their huts, veterans of last winter here got the sad news today that they probably won't be home for Christmas.

Navy Capt. W. M. Dickey, the area commander, told the 317 "old explorers" that bad flying weather has delayed arrival of their replacements. Most personnel changes will now have to await opening of the ice as the Antarctic summer progresses and ships can reach Little America.

The personnel exchange was not made last summer until late in January and early February. But hopes had been raised by a Navy news letter from Washington to the men's families indicating they might be home for the holidays. Dickey said only hardship and special cases now are likely to get out in time. Morale is still high despite the delay, he added.

Meanwhile, a storm that began Monday increased in intensity and stopped all flying. Winds averaging about 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 60, covered the ice runway with snow and made it uncertain when flights from New Zealand could be resumed.

A tractor train of 19 men headed by Lt. (j.g.) Bob White of Glens Falls, N. Y., completed a 650-mile 21-day trek from here to Byrd Station on Tuesday. It carried 145 tons of supplies, including a rig to drill 1,000 feet through the ice for geological information.

Adult Sewing Class Will Meet Tonight

Although Mrs. Joseph Lahoud who regularly teaches sewing in the Saugerties adult education program will not be able to meet with the class Thursday night, the class will meet as usual. Mrs. Lahoud suffered a broken ankle in a recent mishap. Mrs. Mary Yost, homemaking teacher, will be in charge of the class.

No more registrations will be accepted for the elementary drawing and sketching course or for the ceramics course. These courses have as many people as can be accommodated, a school spokesman said.

Reserve Seats Go Fast for Kiwanis Club Kapers Show

Response to the inauguration of reserve seat tickets at no extra charge for this year's Kiwanis Kapers presentation of "Li'l Abner" has been excellent, according to George Silkworth, chairman of the 1957 Kapers committee. As a result, Silkworth has announced that the exchange of tickets for reserve seat stubs will be extended through Saturday, Oct. 26, at 630 Broadway, corner of O'Neil Street, from 1 to 5 p. m.

Rehearsals for the 1957 version featuring the capering of the Dogpatch citizens have indicated that the show, presented annually for the benefit of the Kiwanis Scholarship and Benefit funds, will be an excellent presentation and will follow a decidedly different pattern from former shows.

Further information on the cast of characters featured in the famous comic strip antics include William Edelmuth as Pappy Yokum, Lawrence Quilty as Earthquake McGoon, Richard Rider as General Jubilation T. Cornpone, Louis Schafer as Weakeyes Yokum, Richard Shiels as Evil Eye Flegel, Harry Rigby as Senator Phogbound, Sherrill Keyser as General Bullmoose, and Fred VanDeusen as Old Man Mose.

Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 28 and 29, are the dates for "Li'l Abner" to appear on the stage of the Kingston High School Auditorium. Advance ticket sales have indicated popular enthusiasm for this year's show, according to Silkworth.

Brownell Out

tegration at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark.

However, Brownell said yesterday that southern criticism "did not enter into my calculations at all." His letter of resignation, made public earlier, recalled that in late August—before the Little Rock crisis developed—he had discussed with Eisenhower "my desire to return to private law practice at the earliest practicable date."

"Before you were able to complete plans for the transition of the duties of the office to my successor," Brownell told Eisenhower, "the Little Rock matter intervened, requiring urgent legal action in the federal courts."

"Since the federal government's legal position in this case has now been clearly defined, it seems an appropriate time for me to fulfill my desire to resume private law practice."

Close With Nixon

Nixon and Rogers have developed close ties over the years. In the 1952 campaign, Rogers was one of Nixon's chief political advisers. When President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack in September 1955, Nixon secluded himself that night at Rogers' home in nearby Bethesda, Md. The vice president explained later he did so to avoid telephone distractions while he kept in touch with other officials.

The newly-designated attorney general is 44, blond and blue-eyed. Vigorous in action, he nearly always follows the friendly, informal approach.

When reporters came yesterday to ask questions about his new appointment, Rogers greeted them characteristically: "Hi, Joe—Hello, Frank—Glad to see you, Ted—" and so on around the room. And it's doubtful if anyone in official Washington calls him anything else but "Bill."

Rogers is a native of Norfolk, N. Y. He attended public schools there and in Canton, N. Y., went to Colgate and got his law degree at Cornell.

Former Dewey Aide

Fresh out of college, he was hired in 1938 by then Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Dewey as an assistant in a drive against the New York racketeers. It was that drive that made Dewey a national figure.

When World War II broke out, Rogers joined the Navy. He was assigned to the aircraft carrier Intrepid and took part in attacks on Japan and the capture of Okinawa. In the Okinawa campaign, his ship was hit twice by Japanese suicide planes. He left the service as a lieutenant commander.

He rejoined the New York county district attorney's staff for a time, but in 1947 accepted appointment to the legal staff of the old war investigating committee. Rogers later became chief counsel of that committee and was continued in that capacity when it became the permanent Senate investigations subcommittee.

Rogers left government service in 1950 to become a member of the New York-Washington law firm of Dwight, Royall, Harris, Koegel and Caskey. He severed that association to become deputy attorney general in 1953.

Since then Rogers also has served on the President's committee on government contracts, a group responsible for enforcing a policy of nondiscrimination in employment by persons holding federal contracts.

Money to Make Money

NEW YORK (AP)—Money posted to guarantee actors' salaries on Broadway is now going to work to make more money.

The guarantee funds, covering two weeks' wages for all performers, must be posted by every producer when he launches a show. The stipulation is insisted on by Actors' Equity, the performing union, and at the peak of the season the amount on deposit averages a half million dollars.

Now, with Equity's okay, the bank which holds all the deposits, will keep part of them in a checking account and part in an investment account. The interest will be turned over to the League of New York Theatres, producers' organization. The league hasn't decided yet what it will do with the new revenue.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying demand which spilled over from yesterday's historic rise pushed the stock market higher in heavy trading today but profit-taking clipped gains and established some losses early this afternoon.

In a follow-up to yesterday's huge rally, the biggest in 28 years, key stocks rose fractions to more than a point. In some cases the gains ran to 2 or 3 points at the start.

The range of advances was still a point or so but losses in about the same range replaced some of the early gains. The high-speed ticker tape ran behind transactions for an hour and 36 minutes. At worst, the tape was 7 minutes behind transactions on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

Wall Street sentiment was still riding high on President Eisenhower's announced plans to make a series of talks reaffirming faith in the American economy. Encouraging news of progress in American missiles and other arms, a published report that the Federal Reserve Board has decided to ease up a bit on its tight money policy and some reports that the money market situation has already eased slightly, with other items bolstering market confidence.

unable to give full cost. Miss Roberts is asking $28,000. Plaintiff alleges that cutting off access to crops caused loss, and claims there were other damages amounting to the $150,000.

Central Hudson, deeming the figure as excessive, notes that the work was let out on contract and was not done by its own crews.

C-H Blames Others

Britton Contracting Company, Inc., got the contract for laying the gas line, then subcontracted the work to the West Shore Concrete Company, Inc.

Central Hudson has a suit against the two firms, claiming that any damage to the Roberts property was due to their negligence.

Attorneys are Thomas C. Platt for Miss Roberts, N. LeVan Haver for Central Hudson, Arthur B. Ewig for West Shore Contract and Henry Hirschberg for the Britton firm.

Turkey Case Settled

Celia Rosenthal's automobile negligence action against Richard Mattoce was another case announced settled as the calendar was called.

Ave Calls

had allocated so little of new interstate mileage to New York State. Last year, the state asked the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to assign to New York 43 of 1,000 miles of highway that were to be added to the interstate system.

The state also asked the federal agency to substitute about 600 more miles of other highways in the state for state Thruway mileage that had been designated as part of the system.

None of these requests were granted. They were "ignored," he said.

At stake are millions of dollars in potential federal aid. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of building recognized interstate highways but only 50 per cent for other roads.

Harriman asserted that New Yorkers paid 13 per cent of all federal taxes and 7 per cent of the federal gasoline tax but figured to receive less than 6 per cent of the total federal highway aid.

A reporter asked whether Harriman might propose raising the state gasoline tax to support the highway construction program if greater aid were not forthcoming from the federal government.

"My position is that the sooner the extra cent is put on, the better," the governor replied.

Missile Stocks Very Speculative Until Policies Firm Up

Defensive Issues Have Place in Most Portfolios

Q—A Michigan investor writes, "My list of glamour stocks and growth stocks has left me badly burned on paper on the recent declines. I would appreciate a suggestion of more stable issues to balance my list with funds now available."

A—Many investors besides yourself have been getting a taste of what a serious reaction can do, on a short-term basis, to a list of stocks which get the biggest play during a bull market. I have always believed that there is a place for a proportion of defensive-type issues in most portfolios except those in which substantial long-term growth is of overriding importance. Defensive issues, particularly necessities-of-living stocks, have built-in stability because of the nature of their business. They rarely rise to extremes during periods of bullish enthusiasm and customarily decline much less during times of considerable pessimism like the present. Foremost in this category are the utilities. Among these I would suggest Duquesne Light Co., serving Pittsburgh; Baltimore Gas & Electric, operating in the Chesapeake Bay area; Consolidated Edison, supplying New York City. Food stocks such as National Dairy, foremost in milk products, and Campbell Soups are suitable for your purposes. Pharmaceuticals have defensive characteristics as well as good growth potentials and here I like Merck and Parke, Davis, both of which have behaved relatively well during the recent decline. American Can, an industry leader, is a long-time favorite of mine for steady market performance and moderate growth. Somewhat less stable but with a history of resisting recessions are the food chains. In this category I like Safeway Stores, First National, Kroger and Winn-Dixie.

Plattekill Plattekill Grange Officers Installed

PLATTEKILL — Installation of officers of Plattekill Grange No. 923, will be conducted on Saturday evening, Oct. 26, with Past Master Wilson Edmunds as installing officer.

A supper, served by members Service and Hospitality Committee of the organization will be served prior to the ceremonies.

Officers installed will be Master, Kenneth Cronk, re-elected; Overseer, Charles Everett; Lecturer, Mrs. Charles Everett; Steward, Alfred Harris; Chaplain, Mrs. Ralph Grismer; Treasurer, Mrs. Ira Merwin; Gatekeeper, Ronald Cronk; Ceres, Mrs. George McMullen; Pomona, Mrs. Elsie Van Wyck; Flora, Mrs. Ruth Lockwood; Lady Assistant Steward, Mrs. Alfred Harris; Member of the Executive Committee, succeeding Eber H. Coy, Nathaniel Daves.

New members receiving third and fourth degrees of initiation, by Master Kenneth Cronk, recently were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perez of Plattekill, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lofink of Modena.

Announcement was made of a Halloween dance to be held for the pre-teen age, at the Grange Hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 29, to which all young people of this and nearby communities are invited to attend.

The Willing Workers Society of the Plattekill Methodist Church will conduct a food sale at the Fire House on Election Day, this being an annual custom of the group.

Layman's Sunday was observed in the Plattekill Methodist Church, when a message on the subject "My Father's Business," was delivered by Henry Houten.

Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship held their meeting in the Plattekill Fire House, at 7 p. m.

Plattekill Boy Scout Master Martin DePew announces that all boys throughout the community, ranging from the age of 11 to 18 are eligible to join the local troop. Meetings are held Wednesday evening of each week at 7:30 p. m. in the fire house.

Latest achievements were a Court of Honor meeting, when 12 were advanced to Second Class Scouts. They also went for a hike on Saturday of the past week.

Members of the Plattekill Home Extension Service issue invitations to all ladies of the area, to join the unit and participate in the instructions and social times enjoyed by the group.

Officers are chairman, Mrs. Myron E. Fosler, who is principal of the Plattekill Elementary School, vice-chairman, Mrs. Eleanor Ferguson; secretary, Mrs. Ellen Hollenbeck; treasurer, Mrs. Josephine Ruggerio.

Projects to be taught, demonstrated and discussed during the present season include enameling on copper, decorative stitching, braided rugs and food projects.

Town Supervisor Gerow, Wilkin spoke on the subject "Serving God in Our Career," at Layman's Day services Sunday in the Dutch Reformed Church at New Hurely.

Mr. and Mrs. Celestino Garcia returned home recently from a visit in their native land of Spain.

Forty-five years ago the Garcias purchased the farm property of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Garrison, northeast of Plattekill village, where they established their home and reared their family. Later the house was converted to a modern boarding house.

The Commission on Education, a department of the Plattekill Methodist Church, met Tuesday evening, at the church.

How Not To

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—State pride was wounded by the advertisement of an industrial research firm that told of the firm's success in building up tourist and business trade in the Honduras. That was all right, but the "ad" writer had to add that the company had been similarly successful in "such out-of-the-way places as West Virginia."

Upstate Honeymoon

NORTHVILLE (AP) — G. David Schine and his beautiful bride were honeymooning today near this Adirondack community.

The pair flew here last night, then drove to a secluded cottage on the Sacandaga Reservoir, where they will spend several days.

The operator of a small private airport said Schine, former investigator for the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, made a perfect landing of his two-seater plane at dusk by the light of the headlights of three automobiles.

Schine, son of hotel and theater magnate J. Myer Schine, married the former Hillevi Rombin of Sweden in New York City Tuesday. She was Miss Universe of 1955.

Early English coffee houses were seats of wit and learning and acquired the sobriquet of "penny universities."

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Being a Swede, Inger Stevens has naturally been compared with Ingrid Bergman. Being fresh-faced and blonde, she has been compared with Grace Kelly.

"Though they are complimentary, I hate comparisons," says Inger. "I suppose they are the result of a laziness of description; people can't think up new adjectives, so they make comparisons. But I'd rather be known as Inger Stevens."

My bet is that she will get her way. Already she has made a fine impression as Bing Crosby's leading lady in "Man on Fire." She went on to "Cry Terror" with James Mason, and is now playing opposite Yul Brynner in "The Buccaneer."

Strikingly Beautiful

What does she have? She is strikingly beautiful, as Bergman and Kelly were. She is also a convincing dramatic actress. And Inger is warm and friendly, which the two noted expatriates were not.

Inger is an authentic Swede, but she's also an American beauty. She came to this country at 10, lived in both Manhattans — New York and Kansas. She grew up in the latter, where her father was a teacher at Kansas State Agriculture College.

"I've been supporting myself since I was 15," she related. I've done everything, including taking inventory at Montgomery Ward in Kansas. What fun it was—counting wool socks with the temperature 115°!

She went back to New York and tried her hand at modeling, posing for toothpaste commercials and acting in television. The latter gave her seasoning (as it did Grace Kelly) and brought her to the attention of movie makers.

"I came out to try out for a role in 'Tin Star,'" she said. "I knew it was hopeless, because the part called for a woman with a 10-year-old son, and even with fixing my hair and putting lines under my eyes they couldn't make me look the role."

Jinxed At Times

"My agent and I went to talk to George Seaton and Bill Perlberg (the producers). We barely had out foot in the door and were slowly being pushed out until Mr. Seaton learned I was Swedish. He was part Norwegian. So we started getting back in the door."

She didn't get the role, but she was signed by Paramount. Meanwhile she played a Swedish maid in the Playhouse 90 show "Eloise." This caught producer Sol Siegel's eye, and he tested her for "Man on Fire."

Just before the picture started, she had an appendectomy. On the last day of shooting "Cry Terror" in a New York tunnel, she was felled with carbon monoxide poisoning. As "The Buccaneer" began, she suffered an infected tooth that swelled her jaw like a balloon.

As you can see, things happen to Inger. But I predict they'll be pleasanter things from now on.

Aviation historians credit Mrs. C. J. S. Miller as being the first U. S. woman to fly in an airplane: Aug. 11, 1906.

Major Operation
To Be Performed
On TV Sunday

A major operation will be performed on "live" television Sunday, October 27, from 4 to 5:30 p. m., on "Wide World." The title of the program, "The House I Enter," is taken from the Hippocratic oath, which reads in part: "Whatsoever house I enter, I will enter to help the sick."

The operation will be performed at University Hospitals in Cleveland by resident surgeon, Dr. James M. Smith and will be supervised by Dr. William Holden, director of surgery. Throughout its 90 minutes of time, the program will switch to the hospital periodically to check the progress of the operation.

The cameras also will move into research centers and homes across the nation to tell the story of American doctors.

The program will open in a classroom amphitheatre at Western Reserve University in Cleveland and viewers will hear the remarks of Dr. John L. Caughey, Jr., associate dean of the School of Medicine, as he talks to a group of beginning medical students.

It will then move to the small town of Overlook, Kansas, where the cameras will pick up Dr. Charles O. Hoover, a 76-year-old general practitioner, and follow him into a patient's home for a bedside consultation.

The program then will include a talk by Dr. Nicholas Dallis, a top psychiatrist, of Milwaukee. Next will be shown Dr. Frederic Wertham, one of the country's best-known psychiatrists, at work in a mental clinic in New York City. In Cleveland, Dr. H. K. Hellerstein, assistant professor at Western Reserve Medical School, and his research doctors will demonstrate their cardiac research in the school and at a nearby steel mill. At Chamblee, Ga., in the U. S. Public Service, "disease detectives" will be shown in action tracking down an epidemic to its source. In the city of Hope in Duarte, California, a group of 15 doctors will be working around the clock toward some means of arresting or curing leukemia.

'52 Cars Must Be Inspected
In November

ALBANY — Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly has reminded owners of 1952-model motor vehicles that these vehicles must be inspected in November.

At the same time, the motor vehicle commissioner again warned owners of 1952 and older vehicles that they will not be able to obtain 1958 registration plates without a valid inspection sticker. A vehicle must be inspected no earlier than one month prior to its scheduled month in order to have a valid sticker.

"If you own a 1952 or older vehicle, and for any reason have not yet had it inspected, do so without delay," said Commissioner Kelly. "Otherwise, you may encounter predeadline congestion and delays in getting your inspection sticker so as to qualify for 1958 plates."

General sale of 1958 plates will start December 2.

In the first eight months of official inspections (February 1-September 30), the Motor Vehicle Bureau has issued 109 orders revoking registration plates of vehicles ruled off the road as unsafe and unrepairable.

In addition, the Bureau has suspended the registrations of 8,957 vehicles which failed to pass inspection and which were not repaired and inspection passed within ten days of rejection. The registrations of 4,596 were subsequently restored after compliance.

Area IMC Visits
Channel Master

A tour of the Channel Master Corporation plant at Ellettsville followed the dinner meeting of the Industrial Management Club held recently at Kingston YMCA.

The members of the club viewed the entire process of the manufacture of aluminum tubing from the pigs of aluminum being melted down, to the drawing of the aluminum tubes.

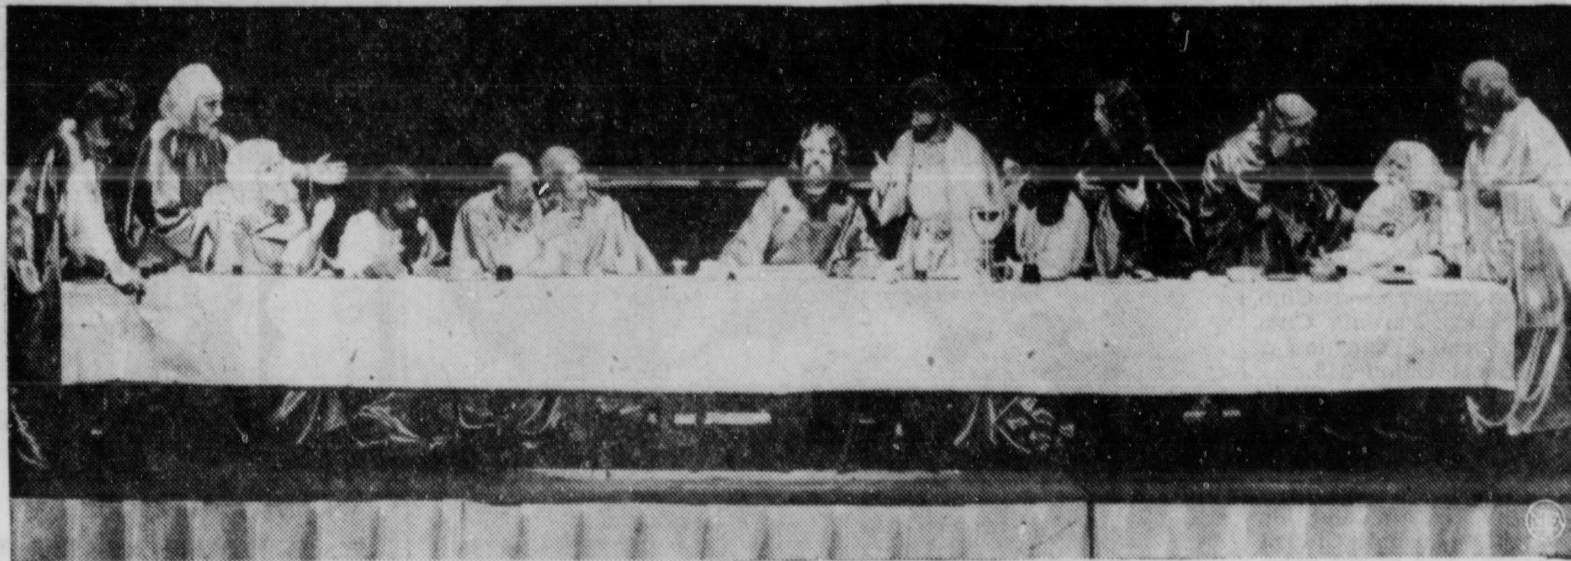

It was pointed out that modern application of aluminum tubing is not only applied to television antennae, but also for other industries.

Ladies Night will feature the November 21 supper meeting at the Flamingo, Saugerties.

There are 27 industries in the Kingston area that support the local Industrial Management Club.

Hawk Trap

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A television antenna atop the T. A. Filipi home here picked up more than program signals. It caught a live hawk. The Filipis awoke to find the bird, with a wing spread of more than four feet, entangled in the antenna crossbars. A Lincoln Humane Society employee finally freed the struggling hawk with a specially constructed pole.

LIVING MASTERPIECE—A living reproduction of Leonardo da Vinci's "The Last Supper" is formed by men of the Collingwood Christian Church, Cleveland, Ohio. The tableau served as the worship center for an ecumenical communion service at the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), in Cleveland, Ohio.

Recent Graduate

Marine Pfc. James E. McDonald, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of 77 Gage

Street, graduated from the Basic Radio School at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif., October 7.

The 10-week course included instruction and study of machine shop tools, radio theory, frequency modulation, test instruments, servicing methods, antenna construction and antenna servicing. Pfc. McDonald is now attending the ground radio repair course at the San Diego Recruit Depot.

Businessmen Are Told to Become Active Politically

Businessmen were told today, by a State Chamber of Commerce executive, that they must become politically active if they are to achieve their legislative goals, at a meeting jointly sponsored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Empire State Chamber of Commerce.

Robert T. Eaton, director of the Organization Service Department of the state-wide business organization urged businessmen to affiliate with and contribute to the political party of their choice. "Not only should businessmen register and vote," Eaton said, "they must take an active part in local party organizations, help select well qualified candidates and work for their election."

Eaton urged his hearers to undertake a local business climate survey to determine where Kingston stands competitively in such matters as community progressiveness, efficiency and attitude of government, labor relations, human resources, community services and facilities, labor costs, social, cultural and educational institutions and business citizenship.

Unscheduled

CAMPTON, Ky. (AP)—County Farm Agent Haye Pigman performed an unscheduled striptease and frantic jitterbug dance on his front lawn. A lizard had lodged inside his duds and Pigman was trying to get him out.

Town of Hurley Halloween Dance Scheduled Oct. 31

A masquerade dance will be held Halloween evening, Oct. 31, in the Firehall beginning at 7 p. m. for the children through the fifth grade, and 9 p. m. for grades sixth through high school. All children, as well as adults, are invited. Games and dancing have been arranged as entertainment. Prizes will be offered for the best original costume of the boy and girls in each age group. Refreshments will be served to all.

The dance will be sponsored jointly by the Hurley Lions Club, the Hurley School Parents' Club, and the American Federation of Musicians, Local Union 215. Music for the occasion will be provided through a Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry obtained through the cooperation of Local 215. Dorothy Darrow and her orchestra will furnish the music for both square and round dancing. All children who have participated earlier in the evening in Trick or Treat for UNICEF will turn in their banks and a tabulation will be made.

N-F Forsees Lower Water Diversion Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The city of Niagara Falls, N. Y., figures water can be diverted through tunnels to the proposed Niagara power project for "20 million dollars-plus" less than the New York State Power Authority estimates. Clarence W. Greenwald, counsel for the city, made the assertion yesterday at a hearing before the Federal Power Commission. The hearing continued today.

Greenwald called Carl Cullum, a consulting engineer for the authority, to the stand to justify the authority's cost estimates for the tunnel system, which is advocated by the city of Niagara.

The authority is seeking FPC approval for a system of canals and conduits for diverting the water.

The Power Authority has told the commission that the tunnel system would cost $222,578,000 as compared with $121,519,000 for the canal project.

Execution Date Urged

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's Supreme Court had before it today a request that it set a new execution date for William Wetzel, whose execution has been postponed many times.

The request was made yesterday by the Mississippi attorney general, Joe T. Patterson. It probably will not be acted upon until at least Nov. 4.

Wetzel, a native of Seneca Falls, N. Y., was convicted of the prison-slaying in 1953 of Edgar McGraw of McComb, Miss., another convict.

The U. S. Supreme Court recently denied, for the second time, an appeal based on charges that Wetzel's punishment had been aggravated unnecessarily and that he is to be executed by gas when state law at the time of his conviction called for electrocution.

Scientist Says Soup Has Honored Place in Diet

CHICKEN VEGETABLE soup, with its combination of six garden vegetables, is a welcome addition to youngster's diet.

By GAYNOR MADDUX
NEA Food and Market Editor

We flew to Boston to have lunch with Dr. Frederick J. Stare, head of Harvard's department of nutrition. We ate soup—a hearty fish chowder.

Youthful looking slender, vital, this world-famous scientist says soup has an honored place in the diet.

He wrote recently, "Studies made by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation Laboratories indicate that many soups like bean and bacon, vegetable and meat and pepper pot are rich in essential tissue-building nutrients. These soups, and others combining meat or fish, vegetables, cereals and milk, provide the variety of foods and it the basis of good nutrition through a balanced diet."

Recently we went to a luncheon at the St. Regis Hotel in New York given to introduce three brand-new canned condensed soups to food editors. We like them, particularly the minestrone and chicken vegetable. Of course, you may like the turkey noodle best.

Here's a description of the three:

1. Chicken Vegetable: A combination of 6 garden vegetables (carrots, potatoes, onions, tomatoes, celery and peas) plus chunks of chicken and enriched ribbon noodles. Ten and one-half ounces in each can (1½ cups prepared), 2 to 3 servings.

2. Minestrone: An Italian-style vegetable soup combining carrots, potatoes, tomatoes, onions, celery, peas, green beans, pea beans, zucchini, cabbage, turnip greens mustard and enriched spaghetti (long thin spaghetti) simmer in strong beef broth, plus fine Italian cheese.

3. Turkey Noodle: Turkey stock, enriched egg noodles and choice chunks of tender turkey, well seasoned.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Chicken vegetable soup, pan-broiled hamburger patties, frozen French fried potatoes, stewed tomatoes, onions and cracker crumbs, soft rolls, butter or margarine, celery, apple pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Attic Fire Does $2,000 Damage to Spillway Home

Fire in the attic of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schacht on Spillway Road, Town of Hurley, summoned firemen from West Hurley to the scene Wednesday about 12:45 p. m.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor who observed smoke coming from the roof.

West Hurley firemen under Chief Lewis McNally and Assistant Chief Henry Gleich with 10 firemen responded with two pieces of equipment. The fire was contained in the attic which was about three-quarters damaged. Loss was estimated at $2,000. Cause of the fire was believed to have been from an electrical short, a fire department official reported. Mrs. Schacht and her children who were home had no difficulty in leaving the house.

Under Mutual Aid Woodstock Department sent a pumper to West Hurley firehouse to stand by in case of emergency. The West Hurley department secured at 2:20 p. m.

Dr. Ackley Dies

POULTNEY, Vt. (AP)—Dr. Howard C. Ackley, 65, president of Green Mountain College since 1946, died yesterday after a heart attack.

He had served as minister of Trinity Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., for 20 years before taking charge of the 123-year-old college for girls.

He leaves his wife and two sons, Dr. Sheldon Ackley, head of the Ethical Culture Society, Long Island, N. Y., and the Rev. H. Clayton Ackley, pastor of the Methodist Church in Burnt Hills, Saratoga County, N. Y.

Heads Funeral Group

ATLANTA (AP)—The National Funeral Directors Assn. yesterday named as president Roy T. Merrill of Albion, Orleans County, N. Y.

Niagara Falls DA, Moses Are Still at Odds

LOCKPORT (AP)—The Niagara County district attorney and State Power Authority Chairman Robert Moses, at odds over a proposed law enforcement conference in connection with the Niagara power project, are not likely to become pen pals.

Dist. Atty. William H. Earl, nettled by Moses' acid epistolary comments earlier this week, fired off a Moses-like reply to the power authority chairman yesterday.

"Your recent letter," wrote Earl, "which you so discourteously released to the press before its receipt by me, indicates that your reputation as a bombastic, dogmatic and domineering person is well-founded."

Earl aroused Moses' ire by calling a meeting of law enforcement officials to discuss problems that may arise during construction of the Niagara Falls hydroelectric plant.

Moses accused Earl, who is seeking reelection, of having political motives for calling the conference and advised Earl to "keep your shirt on."

Earl, who released his letter to the press when he mailed it, said in his reply that Moses "deliberately misconstrued the purpose of the conference to propagandize the power development upon which the state Power Authority is even now seeking federal permission to proceed."

BEER BEEFS UP BULL—Down the hatch of a junior yearling bull named Vermillion Supreme gurgles a bottle of beer served up by Bill Kiser of Waukesha, Wis., before the gurgler goes out to the show ring at the International Dairy Show in Chicago. Many exhibitors feed beer to their prize stock before judging competition, claiming it improves the animals' appearance. One showman says he pours a fifth of whisky into one of his prize bulls, and the "animal does real good."

Blind Juror

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Jack Benner, 42, blinded by shrapnel on a French battlefield on Independence Day, 1944, was picked to serve on the September term of the Scioto County grand jury. Although he could have been excused because of his disability, Benner said, "Some people think blind people can't do anything. I wanted to show them we can when we have a chance."

Edith Havens Plans January Wedding

EDITH N. HAVENS

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Havens of 123 Greenkill Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith Naomi, to Whit P. Watson of Lexington, Ky., son of Whit B. Watson of Iron-ton, O., and Mrs. Catherine Watson of Ashland, Ky.
The bride-elect is a graduate of Kingston High School. She is employed by IBM as a secretary in the military products division. Her fiancé is a graduate of Ash-land Senior High School and University of Kentucky. He holds a BS degree in electrical engineering. Mr. Watson also served with the navy as naviga-tor for three years. He is em-ployed by IBM in Lexington, Ky., as advisory engineer to the manufacturing division man-ager.
A January wedding is planned.

Buboltz - Foster Wedding Is Held

Miss Barbara Buboltz, daugh-ter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Buboltz of 43 Jarrold Street, be-came the bride of Earl Foster, son of Mrs. Roxie Foster of Ohio and the late John H. Foster, Sunday, Oct. 13, at 2 p. m. in Trinity Methodist Church.
Officiating was the Rev. Ralph E. Hughes. It was a double ring ceremony.
Charles Shuts was at the organ and Mrs. Carol King was the soloist.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of Alencon lace fashioned with a boat neckline edged with sheer nylon tulle long sleeves ending at the wrists, fitted bodice and a very bouffant skirt in ballerina length. A satin bow with streamers was set over nine ruffles of nylon mar-quisette. Her fingertip veil edged in matching lace was gathered to a crown of iridescent sequins and seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white carna-tions.
Mrs. Rose Marie Buboltz, sis-ter-in-law of the bride was maid of honor in a ballerina length gown of light blue tulle over taffeta. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice and her headpiece consisted of a crown of velvet flowers and petals with circular veil. She carried a nosegay of pink pompons.
Joseph F. Buboltz, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Eugene Buboltz, brother of the bride and Anthony DePaola, friend of the bridegroom.
A reception for approximately 75 guests was held at the Yacht Club.
For her wedding trip to Can-ton, O., the bride wore a pink sheath with black accessories.
A graduate of Kingston High School, the bride is employed by Miss Maid Fashions as a billing clerk. Her husband served with the Navy for four years and is employed by Old Capital Motors.
The couple will make their home at 60 Cedar Street.

By EMILY POST

WHILE THERE'S LIFE THERE'S HOPE

Dear Mrs. Post: My uncle is in a sanitarium and has been there for the past two years. In sending out invitations to my forthcoming wedding, I addressed one to my aunt alone, as I knew it would be impossible for my uncle to be present. My aunt called my mother after receiving the invitation and was very much put out because her husband's name was not included. She said her husband is still living and that we were very discourteous to omit him. My mother and I feel terrible about this, and I would like to know if I was wrong in omitting his name on the invitation?

Answer: Even though you knew he could not possibly come, you should have included his name because as your aunt pointed out, he is still alive.

Well-Meaning But Rude

Dear Mrs. Post: In this suburb I find that most of the hostesses have themselves served first when they give a lunch or dinner party. I had never thought that courteous. But upon inquiring I was told that on the contrary it has a very courteous motive, which is to show people how to proceed; how large a portion to take, etc. I'd like an opinion on this from you.

Answer: Notwithstanding its acceptance in many localities, under no circumstances would I have myself served first. In my opinion, it is the greatest lack of courtesy possible.

Good-Night at the Front Door
Dear Mrs. Post: I live on the second floor of a two-family house. When friends come in of an evening to pay a visit, it is necessary for me to go down the stairs with them when leaving and open the front door for them, or would it be proper to bid them good-night at the top of the stairs and have them leave themselves out?

Answer: If your front door is on the second floor as in an apartment house you would say good-night there but if it is on the first floor you should go down the stairs with your guests.

Where should the reception for friends be held after the christening? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Leaflet, E-36, "The New Baby," includes the christening ceremony and reception. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Elizabeth Haeussler Weds Thomas A. Knight In Double Ring Ceremony at Old Dutch Here

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS ALLEN KNIGHT

Miss Elizabeth Jane Haeussler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Haeussler of Mt. Marion, became the bride of Thomas Allen Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delos L. Knight of Bogalusa, La., on Saturday, Oct. 12, 7:30 p. m. at the Old Dutch Church.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Donald Romme was at the organ. Mrs. John Stewerwald of Glen Rock, N. J. was the soloist.

Autumn flowers decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory peau de soie sheath gown styled with a petal type neckline, buttoned down front and arching skirt which gathered back into a chapel length train. She also wore matching mitts. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a crown of matching ivory peau de soie self-trimmed and hand embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a spray bouquet of white Fuji mums.

Mary Ann Haeussler, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown in the same style and material as that worn by the bride except that its street length skirt was designed with a harem hemline. She also wore a headpiece of scarlet velvet trimmed with red paillettes and pearls. She carried red Happiness roses.

Richard F. Knight of Louisiana was the best man. Ushers included Lloyd Tice of Howard, Pa., and Edward Marrott of Long Island.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Mt. Marion for approximately 200 guests.

Mrs. Knight is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Albany Business College where she was a member of Theta Alpha Chi Sorority. She is employed as a secretary by IBM.

The bridegroom was graduated from Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, where he was a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity. He is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering society, and a member of Phi Eta Sigma. He is employed as architectural engineer for IBM.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a traveling ensemble consisting of a grey wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow Fuji mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight plan to make their home at 22 Hill Street, Saugerties, when they return.

MR. AND MRS. CURTIS L. FOSHEE

On Saturday, Oct. 19, at 11 a. m., the marriage of Miss Yvette Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cesar Long of Port Ewen, to Curtis Leo Foshee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Foshee, was held at the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

The Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Donald H. Bernard was at the organ.

White chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown over satin styled with a fitted lace bodice, scoop neckline trimmed with seed pearls, long pointed lace sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a coronet of frosted orange blossoms and small frosted rosettes. The bride carried a nosegay of white mums and stephanotis.

Mrs. Robert S. Michelin of Cornwall, was the matron of honor. She wore a pale green waltz length taffeta gown with headpiece to match. She carried a nosegay of chrysanthemums in fall colors.

Miss Linda S. Michelin, niece of the bride, served as flower girl in a coral taffeta ballerina length gown with Juliette cap. She carried a basket of mums in fall colors and rosebuds.

Francis A. Sainsbury of Kingston was the best man. Ushers included John Kirkpatrick, Kingston, Robert Michelin, Cornwall, and Valentino Reynaud of Ulster Park.

A reception was held at Brog-

Iris Gilbert, George Kirnie Are Joined In Marriage at Double Ring Ceremony

On Sunday, Oct. 20, at St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, Miss Iris Irene Gilbert, daughter of Mrs. John Bogoson of Washington, D. C., exchanged marriage vows with George J. Kirnie, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirnie of Syracuse. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Kelsch of Buffalo, assisted by the Rev. Charles P. Burke, pastor of St. Mary's.

Walter Jeghers of Kingston, uncle of the bride, escorted her to the altar which was decorated with white mums. She wore a gown of white imported Chantilly lace, mits to match, and a shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. John B. Treppa, sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor in a royal blue velvet and satin gown. She carried pink roses. Flower girl was Christine Kirnie.

Brother-in-law of the bridegroom, John E. Treppa, served as best man while William Kirnie, brother of the bridegroom, was the usher. Child ringbearer was Gregory Kirnie.

A reception for 80 guests was held at Stonewall Hotel, Saugerties.

The bridegroom was graduated from Syracuse High School. The bride, who was graduated from Saugerties High School, wore a red wool Jersey dress for her wedding trip to the Poconos. She also wore a leopard hat and orchid.

The couple will make their home in Syracuse.

Saugerties Methodist Church Is Scene Of Cooke-Althiser Jr. Wedding Oct. 20

MRS. JOHN A. ALTHISER JR.

(Tom Reynolds Photo)

Miss Marlene Ann Cooke and John A. Althiser Jr. were married Sunday, Oct. 20, at the Saugerties Methodist Church in a double ring ceremony. Miss Cooke is the daughter of Mrs. Rachel Cooke, Saugerties. Mr. Althiser is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Althiser Sr., of Saugerties.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. George Werner.

At the organ was Mrs. Roland Tonnesen. Soloist was Willet Overbaugh.

Russell Cooke, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. For the wedding, the bride wore a gown of rose point lace over bridal satin fashioned with fitted bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and bateau neckline outlined with sequins. The bouffant skirt tiered in tulle swept back into a circular court train. She wore a cloche type headpiece to which was attached a French illusion veil in fingertip length.

The matron of honor, Mrs. William Willt, wore a gown of rust colored velvet, sheath style, with Sabrina neckline and draped cummerbund. The skirt was waltz length and was covered with a bouffant overskirt of matching taffeta. She wore a cloche type headpiece of nylon braid.

The bride carried white orchids and pompons. Her matron of honor carried green pompons.

Work on Christmas Seals Project Is Started in Kingston

Mrs. Richard Kalish, chairman of volunteers for the 1957 Christmas Seals Sale, is now planning with church societies, B'nai B'rith Auxiliary, the Girl Scouts, YWCA and other groups, to assist with the preparation of letters to be mailed to thousands of Ulster County residents on November 15.

Mrs. Kalish said, "there is a big job to be done, but many hands make light work." The Christmas Seals work started very early with the checking of records and cards and typing envelopes.

Earlier in the season, Girl Scouts, the Y-teens and other individual volunteers, consistently worked on the records of those who have contributed for many years, as well as registering those folks who are new to the community and will be asked to participate. In Ulster County, tuberculosis prevention services include chest X-rays, patients' services, and the program of promotion and education for better physical and mental health.

Any groups or individuals interested in aiding in this work at the TB office, 74 John Street, should contact Mrs. Kalish.

Library Association Elects New Officers

During the annual meeting of the Stone Ridge Library Association, Mrs. Ross K. Osterhout of Stone Ridge was reelected president and Mrs. Clifford Basten vice president. Miss Harriet Church of Stone Ridge was appointed chairman of the fair committee with Miss Ruth Magnusson and Mrs. Paul Sturges as co-chairmen.

The next annual Stone Ridge Library Fair will be held Saturday, July 26, 1958.

The fair this year was successful and the committee in charge thanks everyone who helped in any way to make it a success.

The nominating committee appointed for next year includes Kenneth Davenport, chairman; Mrs. John Davenport and Mrs. William Hasbrouck. Members appointed as representatives to the Board of Trustees meetings are Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck and Mrs. Clyde Roosa.

Charles J. Thurin Nominated to Receive Catholic Youth Award

The Catholic Youth Organization's Parish Volunteer Award for 1957, presented by St. Joseph's Church, will be received this year by Charles J. Thurin of 16 Prospect Street.

Mr. Thurin has been a member of the parish for more than 30 years. He has worked with Troop 3, Boy Scouts of America, which is sponsored by the Holy Name Society, for 18 years. He is now Explorer Advisor of Post 3 and has three sons, one an Eagle Scout, the other two Life Scouts.

The award will be made Sunday in the main ballroom of Hotel Statler, New York City, during the CYO Convention.

Sorosis Honors Director

Mrs. William McVey, newly elected third district director for the State Federation of Women's Clubs, was honored recently by Sorosis with a reception and tea at the home of Mrs. Fred Ertel, Stone Ridge.

Presiding at the tea table were the Mmes. Edward Rick, George DeKay and William Ryland.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Mmes. George Ross and Boyd Williams.

Guests were present from the Saugerties Monday Club and the Woman's Club of Rosendale.

Is Held; 190 Couples Attend Annual Event

The annual Harvest Moon Dance, sponsored by Tri-Hi Club of YWCA, was held Saturday night at the Kate Walton Field House and attended by more than 190 couples. The theme, traditionally kept a secret until the event, was "An Old Fashioned Hayride."

The gym was appropriately decorated in autumn colors and boasted a large hay wagon laden with hay, cornstalks, and pumpkins.

Cider and homemade cookies were served by Miss Jacqueline Rethier and her committee.

Miss Kathy Lemister, general chairman of the dance, presented the chaperones with flowers on behalf of the Tri-Hi Club. Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Buehring; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Eckels; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kuehne; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mac Kinnon and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller.

Tri-Hi Club, along with other YWCA clubs, is supported by the Kingston Area Community Chest. Members of the club, several of whom are Red Feather girls for this year's campaign, ask for generosity during the drive.

Mount Holyoke Club Meeting on Friday

Mrs. LaMar Briner, 58 Montrose Avenue will attend the fall meeting of the Hudson Valley Mount Holyoke Club on Friday in the Poughkeepsie Inn.

Mrs. Thomas Rymer, assistant Dean of Mount Holyoke College, will speak informally on current developments and activities at the college.

Mrs. Rymer has been assistant Dean since September 1954. She is chief academic advisor to the classes of 1960 and 1961 and served as executive secretary of the committee on scholarships from 1954-1957. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Smith College with highest honors in history, Mrs. Rymer earned her MA at Stanford University. She taught history and art history in private schools in this country and Europe for several years prior to World War 2, traveling widely in Italy, Austria, Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, England and Spain.

Cobleskill Car Test License Suspended

ALBANY (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Bureau today revoked the licenses of two automobile inspection stations in New York City and suspended a Cobleskill station pending a hearing. The New York operators were identified as Leo's Service Station of Brooklyn and J. Holzer Inc. of Manhattan.

Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said he acted on the basis of a hearing Sept. 30 on charges that the two stations had violated regulations governing the auto inspection program.

Coons Sales & Service of Cobleskill was suspended pending a hearing scheduled for Nov. 4 in Cobleskill. The station is charged with failure to keep a record of repair orders or of inspections, failure to post a schedule of inspection fees and failure to maintain a clean and orderly place of business.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP)—Katydidids have ears on their front elbows.

Among other things you can learn from "Insects—Hunters and Trappers," a new book by Dr. Ross E.

Hutchins of Mississippi State College:

Grasshoppers' ears are on the sides of their stomachs, just behind their back legs. An ant can lift a pebble 52 times its own weight, some beetles can lift 850 times their own weight.

The only insect that uses a tool is the Ammophila wasp which uses a pebble to tamp dirt.

Hopes Book Will Help

ALBANY (AP)—The state administration is hoping a 16-page booklet will help pacify owners of land taken for highway use.

The Harriman administration admits that its tact in appropriating land is perhaps not the best. The Public Works Department yesterday began distribution of the booklet. It answers questions that might be raised by a property owner involved in an appropriation action.

John W. Johnson, the public works superintendent, said the new booklet was designed for property owners around proposed construction areas. The "very suggestion" of road-building is sometimes "a signal for misunderstanding and confusion," Johnson said. "In nine out of 10 cases, fears and misconceptions are unfounded."

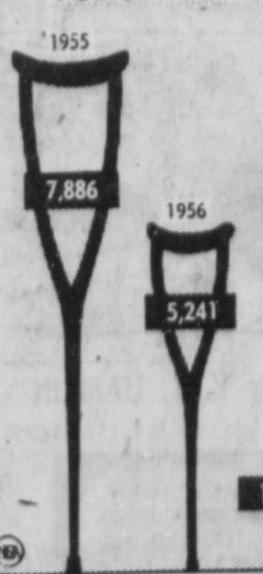

'My Pet'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—John and Carol Gryga, newlyweds, returned from their honeymoon and embarked on a grocery shopping trip. Enjoying the new experience Mrs. Gryga piled the basket high with cans and packages as her husband watched without comment. Only when they got to the checkout stand did he raise a question. He pointed to a can and asked, "Can't we get along without this?" In her eagerness Carol had bought a can of cat food for John.

INCIDENCE OF PARALYTIC POLIOMYELITIS

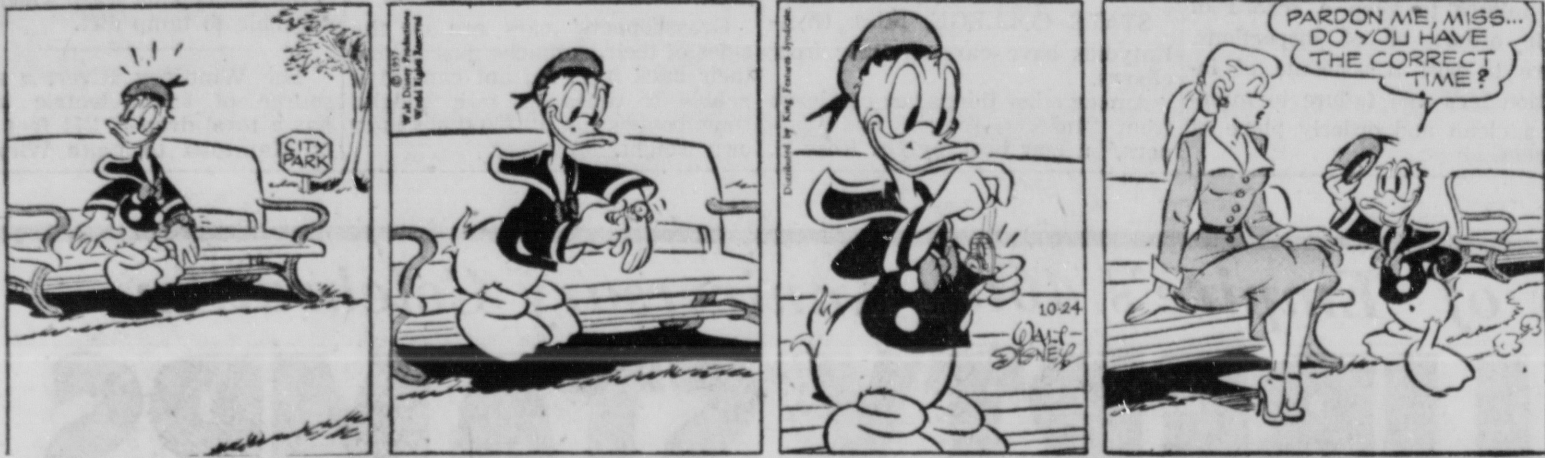

KO FOR POLIO—Figures just released by Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare, indicate a dramatic 80 per cent reduction in paralytic poliomyelitis (see News-chart) in this country over the past two years. Folsom, who credited the decline to the widespread use of Salk vaccine, said, "If people will use the vaccine available, it is possible to give paralytic polio a knockout blow within the next year."

Radel Puts Blame On Republicans For Water Plight

No one is to blame for a drought, but the Republican administration of the past 10 years "are definitely to blame" for the city's short water supply, was a charge made this week by the Democratic candidate for mayor.

Alderman Edwin F. Radel of the Third Ward, running for the party's top post this year, made the accusation while addressing a joint meeting of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club and the Kingston Men's Democratic Club.

He has two opponents, Bernhard S. Kramer running for mayor on the Republican ticket and Worthington L. Rider under the Economy Party banner.

Radel was introduced by a colleague in the Common Council, James K. Ryan, alderman of the 10th Ward, who called him "a man who thoroughly knows and understands the problems of the workingman."

Cites 10-Year Lag

The veteran of the city council, who was elected four times in his ward, declared that the way Republicans have handled the water situation over the past 10 years "has just struck back with the full force of its tragic and pathetic impact."

"No one is to blame for a drought," he said, but he blamed the Republicans "for permitting our standby reservoir to become polluted and even worse to remain polluted."

It was his contention that "our growing business and other concerns called for conservation of water and the maintenance of a pure and wholesome supply of water."

"First they (the Republicans) proposed selling one of our reservoirs. Secondly, they permitted a shocking thing to happen; permitting one of our reservoirs to become polluted and remain polluted."

Deals With Meters

Radel criticized the administration's plans "to force water meters on all water consumers in the city under the alleged guise of conservation."

He took Kramer to task for what he said was an explanation in a recent speech about paying for the meters.

"He had the audacity to pretend that the installation of meters would not cost the taxpayer anything," Radel remarked. "Actually, he had to admit in the very same speech that they would be paid for over a long period of time."

"He knows that the very taxpayer he said would not have to pay is the very same one who will have to foot the bill."

Refers to Cost

"Who will have to pay almost $470 per day and over $173,000 a year for water his (Kramer's) party plans to purchase from the City of New York?"

"The Republican candidate said our supply is adequate. Why then is the Republican administration planning to buy water at a cost of $470 a day?"

"This figure is a minimum based on our presently curtailed and restricted use. It does not permit normal use of water for domestic purposes—washing porches, cars or watering lawns, shrubs, flower or vegetable gardens."

No Solution, He Says

"It is merely an expensive and very temporary face saving expedient. It is not a solution."

"This amount does not even include the cost of laying the pipe to get this water into our water system."

"The extended drought has served to point up the pathetic and tragic inefficiencies of the Republican administration. . . . It shows failure to plan and act properly for the development of our city."

Referring to Kramer's statement that the water board conducts its own program, without any control on the part of the mayor, Radel charged that the administration "has never made any recommendations or formed any plans . . . or advised the people that a main adjunct to their water supply was so polluted as to be completely useless to the community until the emergency was already upon us."

Credits Ryan

Radel said his and other Democratic aldermen's support of Alderman Ryan's legislation requiring reuse of water in air conditioners was a start on water conservation before the drought struck.

He wanted to know what the plans would be when the federal government asks for return of pipe loaned to transfer water from the Shokan to relieve the emergency.

Radel's Plan

If elected, Radel said he would: 1) initiate immediate steps to end the pollution; 2) see to it that the reservoirs were cleaned and drained and dredged; 3) explore the full potential of the drainage area of Cooper Lake and the whole city watershed so that it could be expanded to its present and future full capacity.

Introducing Radel, Alderman Ryan said his deep concern for the problems of the average citizen was demonstrated when the New York Telephone Company was pressing for substantial increases in rates.

"Radel initiated a call for a special meeting of the Common Council on this important matter," Ryan said, and introduced a resolution against the increase in rates.

"The Council adopted the resolution but, unfortunately the Republican state Legislature did not see fit to follow out the recommendation."

Mexico is said to resemble Egypt in its remains of ancient civilizations, especially pyramids.

Hand Makes by 'Swindle'

By OSWALD JACOBY

Seven diamonds is a lay-down with today's hand. All South has to do is to remember to trump his losing club in dummy.

Seven no-trump can't make. There are only 12 top tricks and a squeeze can't operate because East guarded while West hangs on to spades and clubs.

When Larceny Lou held the South hand in a duplicate game he needed a top score and went after the no-trump slam.

Several South players were in seven no-trump but only Larceny Lou was able to make it and he did so by executing one of his better swindles.

Lou never bothered to show his club suit and West opened the four of clubs. It didn't take Lou any time to see that he could only gather in 12 tricks if clubs were going to break five-two and the combination of the four spot lead by West and the drop of the six by East indicated that break. Anyway Lou disdains to make a hand the easy way when he can steal it.

Lou put the queen of clubs on dummy's jack without batting an eyelash. Five rounds of diamonds followed and West had to make five discards. The first four were easy. He let go three spades and a club.

The fatal fifth discard was also easy. The possibility of two low clubs in Lou's hand never entered West's mind and he let a second club go. Now Lou had his 13 tricks and proceeded to take them.

TILLSON—The regular morning service will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday, Oct. 27, at the Tillson Reformed Church. Sunday school classes at 10 a. m. The Ladies Aid Society of the church will hold a home baked goods sale Saturday, Oct. 26, at the church hall starting at 2 p. m. The public is invited.

A card party, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company, will be held at the firehall Saturday, Oct. 26, starting at 8 p. m. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. The public is invited.

Again this year it will be a "UNICEF" Halloween in Tillson. Children, wearing official UNICEF armbands, will make calls at homes about 7 p. m. Halloween to collect funds for UNICEF, an organization which aids needy children throughout the world. Following this the children will enjoy a party at the Tillson school, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., where prizes will be awarded for costumes, movies shown and refreshments served. All children of the community, regardless of faith or church affiliation, are cordially invited to participate in this activity which is sponsored by the Christian Endeavor Society.

A rummage sale for the benefit of the Friends Church will be held at 106 Broadway, Kingston, Saturday, Nov. 2. Anyone having articles to donate may contact Mrs. Earl Stokes of New Paltz or Mrs. Richard Tailleux, Kingston. Articles will be collected.

Bull-Baiter

The bulldog was not so named because it looks like a bull, but because it was bred to fight or bait bulls. The English bulldog bit into the bull's nose and usually held on until the bull was exhausted from tossing his tormentor around.

U. S. Still Undecided On Suit of Senecas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department says it is still undecided on what it will do about a suit filed by Seneca Indians of New York State to block construction of a 125-million-dollar dam at Kinzua, Pa.

The Senecas, who claim much of their reservation would be inundated by the dam's reservoir, filed the suit in U. S. District Court here Aug. 30. The department was given 60 days in which to file an answer.

"We will take appropriate action when the time is due," a department spokesman said yesterday.

The restraining order was asked against Secretary of the Army Brucker and Maj. Gen. Emerson Itchner, chief of the Army Engineers.

Benson Undecided On Dairy Level Of Price Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—A big question yet to be settled by Secretary of Agriculture Benson is the level at which he will support dairy products next year.

Under the law, he may drop price floors to 75 per cent of parity. They now average about 80 per cent. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Because of the continued accumulation of dairy surpluses in government hands under the support program, there has been speculation that Benson might lower the price guarantees in an effort to encourage greater consumption.

But private industry holdings of dairy products might make the secretary reluctant to change the support level. Private holdings of cheese have climbed to a record of nearly 300 million pounds.

Parents' Day Postponed

ALFRED — Parents' Day at Alfred University, regularly scheduled for Saturday, October 26, has been postponed until next spring as a result of the widespread respiratory infections that are sweeping this part of the state. Alfred University President M. Ellis Drake made the announcement today. The postponement followed closely the announcement of the suspension of classes at the University last Friday for a period of five days.

The Mississippi River moves some 400,000,000 cubic yards of gravel, mud and sand to its mouth each year.

GARDINER—Mrs. Ruth Ackerman of Liberty, Mrs. W. Ackerman and son of Kenosha Lake and Mrs. Frank Schick of Overburg were guests last Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Primm.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jayne and children, Billy, Eddie and Teresa of Highland and Miss Jacqueline Jayne of New Paltz were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Hubert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paterno and daughter of Glendale, Long Island and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schick and son of Overburg were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Primm.

The first meeting of the Mothers Club of the Gardiner School was held at the school house Thursday. Joseph Aucker of New Paltz Central School was guest speaker.

A bronze plaque listing the names of those who served in World War 2 is on display at Moran's store. The several committees are making progress as to a suitable permanent location.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Marakill Rod and Gun Club held its Halloween Dance at the Cross Roads Inn Saturday. A large crowd enjoyed the successful affair. Prizes were awarded to those wearing the best costumes.

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered at the 11 o'clock worship service Sunday at the Reformed Church. Sunday school will be held at 9:45 a. m.

The Ladies' Aid Society wishes to thank all those who helped make the turkey supper a success. Approximately $330 was realized.

At a recent meeting of the Dutch Daughters, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Charles Thodes; vice president, Mrs. Albert Ganzer; secretary, Mrs. Leon Barclay; treasurer, Mrs. Anthony Liucci. A congregational meeting will be held Friday, Nov. 1, for the purpose of planning and considering activities for the year. A dinner will be served at 7 p. m. and will be followed by the meeting. Those planning to attend are asked to return their acceptance card by October 28.

Star Fades

BALTIMORE (AP) — They call it the "Star of Canton," and it's going out for the first time since the early 1940s.

The brilliant jet of flame has burned beside a 225-foot tower of a refinery in the Canton section of the city. Fuel manufacturing processes are being stopped at the plant now, and the "star" will burn no more.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Perhaps at this time we should salute another Kingston; that is, Kingston, Jamaica, for I see according to the N. Y. Herald Tribune of Sunday, Oct. 20, page 38 that out of their 33 telephone exchanges some 27 are dial-equipped like ours.

Everyone of us after a period of years have memorized numbers of friends and business houses, but now we have to start all over again. I remember some of my friends had extraordinary memories for phone numbers, now they can forget them all. I always feel that progress is wonderful, that is, if it does not interfere with my comfort and convenience.

I am trying to work out a method by which I can hold the telephone book open with one hand, hold the receiver with the other hand and still dial the number I want with my finger. I do not know if it is best to sit down or stand up to do it. If one still has to put on glasses to see the numbers and get a pencil to write down a message it will make acrobats out of us eventually no doubt.

These dial phones are not new to me as I used them in New York many years ago and I still remember Esplanade as my exchange in Brooklyn. It did not seem difficult at the time. Perhaps I was closer to the alphabet then, being out of school, now I have to juggle with the numbers and alphabet at one time. Incidentally do they still teach the alphabet in school with the modern system. They did in my time.

I also wonder what folks do who cannot read and write, no doubt they can call "Operator."

The last time I paid my telephone bill I asked for a little blue book in which I could write my favorite telephone numbers, which I did in good big print. This booklet I now attach to a high spot on the wall so I can see the number plainly and can dial it from the big print and the book does not slip and fall on the floor like the phone book likes to do, or slip shut.

I am sure none of the others have these problems, that many by now have memorized their favorite numbers and can call each other very easily. Also I miss the pleasant voices of the phone operators.

I see also in the above newspaper that in their puzzle contest they have a sample puzzle, Kingston. Their clue being "This place was permanently settled by the Dutch in the 1650's. In the Senate House here, the legislature of the State of New York held its first sessions in 1777."

Mrs. Robert T. Clark of Port

Ewen wrote me that she received a letter from her sister in Atlanta, Ga., with an enclosed clipping. It tells about C. S. Burden Jr. of Hogansville finding a copy of our famous Ulster County Gazette, published in Kingston by Samuel Freer and Son dated Jan. 4, 1800 describing George Washington's funeral. The editor's note explains that there were many copies made of the original and of course they have been found everywhere. I have item from another reader received Jan. 31, 1957 that in Savannah, Ga., also a copy had been found. R. W. G. Vail wrote a 41 page book with illustrations on the Ulster County Gazette published by New York Public Library, 42nd Street and 5th Avenue, New York City. Mr. Vail tells all about the original and many of the copies with pictures.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

How to Ease Pain of Child's First Taste of Treachery

Nick was over at the house of a boy called Pinky, playing ball. After a while they got bored. Pinky proposed showing Nick the kite his big brother kept in the basement. But as he pulled it down from its shelf, with it came a carton of empty preserve jars.

The crash of breaking glass brought his mother hurrying down the basement stairs. "What's going on here?" she demanded. "Oh, are those the jam jars I was saving? Who did that? Who broke them?"

Pinky said, "Nick did, Ma. He wanted to see Bill's kite. I told him we wasn't suppose to touch it but he wouldn't listen."

Interrupting, his mother turned furiously on Nick. "Get out of here!" she said. "We don't want any rowdy kids like you around. Just go home to your own place—and see that you don't come back here again!"

Nick couldn't speak. He was so horrified by Pinky's treachery that he couldn't find the words to protest it. Indeed, when he got home he was crying with such angry helplessness that it took his mother 10 minutes to get the story from him.

Then, after a pause, she said, "I know how awful you feel, Nick. We all feel awful when a friend betrays us. But the friends who do it don't enjoy themselves either. Just think about Pinky for a moment. Do you think it's fun for him to be so scared of his mother he has to lie about you to save himself?"

Nick stopped crying. Then he took a swallow of chocolate milk. It was clear that he'd found some comfort in the idea that he wasn't the only child in the world with troubles.

A youngster's first experience with a friend's treachery is quite painful.

But it is not helpful to share his horror at it. When we do, we betray our own grownup knowledge that hurt is everybody's experience. For Nick's childish, self-centered idea that it is unique with him. Instead of giving comfort to him, we encourage him to think, "How unfairly I am treated! How I hate the world for abusing me so."

Nick's mother understood this—and comforted him by understanding Pinky's hurts as well as her own child's.

Reformed Church Classis Urges 'No' Bingo Vote

A "no" vote on the "Bingo Amendment" November 5th was advocated by the Classis of Ulster at its regular fall session last week at Mt. Tremper Reformed Church.

The Classis, the next highest judicatory beyond the local church of the Reformed Church in America according to a consensus of the delegates, declared this "a moral and spiritual issue since Bingo relates to gambling."

Unanimous Vote

It was unanimously agreed that each local church "make every effort to bring the matter before their respective congregation to assure a 'no' vote on the question of legalized lottery or bingo."

Also discussed at the meeting at which the Rev. Harold E. Pangburn presided was the recourse of the local churches and Classis in the matter of disciplinary action as it applies both to erring members and erring churches.

The matter was referred to a committee studying the adoption of a revised constitution for the Reformed Church in America.

Vault Everything But Waterproof

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It's regarded as burglar-proof, fireproof, and earthquake-proof—the underground vault of the Loomis Armored Car Service on Sansome Street.

But, to the chagrin of company officials, it isn't leakproof.

"Worrisome and frustrating," says Fred Rice, the firm's division manager, after a rainfall yesterday left several inches of water on the floor. "We don't know what to do."

Mid-Hudson Unit On Science Hears Sections Reports

Liaison captains reports of sectional meetings were heard by the executive committee of the Mid-Hudson Science Advisory Council at a recent meeting at IBM Homestead, Poughkeepsie.

Liaison captains and personnel met with high school personnel in their districts. The area covered by the council includes four complete counties.

44 Schools Included

There are now 44 high schools receiving the various services that the council renders, it was decided to split them into four groups so that the members of the liaison personnel would not be required to cover excessive mileage to attend meetings.

Group 4, which takes in Poughkeepsie, Arlington, Hyde Park, Rhinebeck, Staatsburg, and Red Hook held its meeting in Roosevelt High School Library October 11. The next meeting of Group 4 will be held at the Poughkeepsie High School in November.

Dr. Donald S. Allen, chairman of the council accepted the chairmanship of the board of judges for the Second Poughkeepsie High School "Science Fair" which will be held at the high school Friday and Saturday, March 21 and 22. James L. O'Neill, chairman of the Science Advisory Board of the Poughkeepsie School District indicated that the majority of those industrialists and educators who serve on the board of judges last year will be available again this year.

Arrangements have been made with the leading industries of the area so that all plant tours and the issuance of equipment will be handled through one individual at each plant to avoid overlapping and duplication of this important service rendered through the council. The next meeting of the executive council will be Thursday, Nov. 21.

27 Have Answered Saugerties C of C Luncheon Invite Twenty-seven representatives of Saugerties area women's organizations have answered invitations to the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce sponsored luncheon Monday at the Green Room of the Exchange Hotel.

Presidents or designated representatives of the women's groups will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce to hear an outline of the proposed Saugerties area shopping survey.

42 Invitations Mailed

A total of 42 organizations have been notified by mail. In the event that some organization has not been notified for various reasons, the president of that group may call the Chamber and if it meets the membership requirements an invitation will be extended. Albert J. Cawein, executive secretary said today.

Representatives will not be required to make commitments binding on the organization therefore the question of attendance at the luncheon need not necessarily be voted upon at a regular meeting of the group, he said.

Each representative will receive the Saugerties shopping survey questionnaires which they will circulate at the next regular meeting of their group and return completed immediately thereafter. There is no obligation and the questionnaires are not signed by the person filling out the form.

To Be Analyzed

The questionnaires will be collected by the Chamber and sent to the State Department of Commerce through the regional office in Kingston. After they are compiled and analyzed the State Department of Commerce will issue a brochure which will list the facts about the Saugerties shopping area.

John G. Offerman and Joseph Bosco are co-chairmen of the project.

Tips for Husbands

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — If your wife insists that other men are more helpful with household chores, cite her these figures.

Social researchers at the University of Michigan found that six out of 10 married men neither helped with the dishes nor got their own breakfast even occasionally.

Only 15 per cent were found to lend a hand with the housecleaning. Mother is also primarily responsible for such tasks as awakening the children, buying the groceries, cooking and writing the family correspondence.

The U-M researchers surveyed 450 middle class Detroit homes in arriving at their findings.

Late Bulletin

Strike Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — A threatened strike of milk drivers at 4 p. m. was postponed today by five Teamster Union locals until 4 p. m. next Monday.

The postponement resulted from an agreement to continue contract negotiations with 150 companies serving 14 million persons in the metropolitan area.

Representatives of management and the union said they would continue bargaining today and tomorrow, recess for the weekend and resume negotiations Monday.

State to Press For Better Local Airline Service

ALBANY (AP) — The State Commerce Department said today it would press for improved local airline service throughout the state when the Civil Aeronautics Board opens a five-day hearing here Monday.

The CAB is taking testimony at Boston now in the so-called northeastern states area investigation, dealing with the pattern of local service. Trunk airline service is not involved.

After the Albany session, the investigation will be resumed in Washington Nov. 12.

Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson said Monday's presentation would include surveys of air commerce potential at Westchester County airport, MacArthur Airport at Islip, L. I., and at Oneonta and Ogdensburg.

Other surveys will show air traffic through eight major upstate areas—Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Elmira-Corning, Ithaca, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica-Rome.

The department will be represented by Claude B. Friday, director of the Aviation Bureau, and William E. Zimmerman, director of the Business Research Bureau.

The schedule of appearances: Monday—Counties of Westchester, Broome, Dutchess; city of Niagara Falls, and the Ithaca and Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce.

Tuesday—Schenectady and Warren counties, city of Oneonta, villages of Lake Placid and Saranac Lake, Town of Harrietstown, and chambers of commerce from Utica, Oneonta and Glens Falls; Niagara Frontier Port Authority, and Triple Cities Aviation Council.

Wednesday—Cities of Olean, Watertown, Jamestown and Ogdensburg, Olean Planning Board and Liberty Airport Authority.

Friday—Corning Chamber of Commerce.

Thor Test-Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force announced that the Thor intermediate-range ballistic missile was test-fired from the Cape Canaveral site shortly after noon today.

A Defense Department spokesman said it was expected additional details would be announced later.

This was the sixth test-firing of the Thor 1,500-mile range missile developed by the Air Force.

Today's firing, on the basis of additional reports, seemed to indicate the missile climbed cleanly into the air.

Two of the Thor missiles fired so far have been virtual failures, with the others rated from satisfactory to excellent.

B. A. Steinbach Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Bernard A. Steinbach, 65, president and treasurer of a color printing and lithographing concern bearing his name, died last night at his home here.

A pioneer in lithography in Connecticut, Steinbach developed a process of lithographing maps on silk for the armed forces during World War II.

He was a vice president and director of the Rutland Railroad Corp. of Vermont and chairman of the board of the Ogdensburg, N. Y., Terminal Corp. His concern also had a New York office.

Steinbach leaves his widow, Mrs. Bertha Del Steinbach; a son, Bernard A. Steinbach Jr., of North Haven; a daughter, Mrs. William J. Mack of Hamden; a brother, Milton Steinbach of New York City, and a sister, Mrs. Arthur Weil of New Haven. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon.

Delicious new dish for the day after your turkey feast—

TURKEY-RICE RING

Combine 1/2 cup milk with 1 can cream of chicken soup. Heat. Stir in 1/2 cup sliced cooked mushrooms, 2 cups diced cooked turkey, 1/2 tsp. Sterling Salt, 1/4 cup diced pimiento. Keep hot. To serve, arrange freshly cooked rice in a ring (use a colorful casserole) and fill with the creamed turkey.

Any dish has extra zest, extra flavor richness when cooked and seasoned with Sterling Salt!

Celebrations Mark UN Day Around World

UNITED NATIONS (U. N.)—Celebrations around the world today marked the most eventful year in the life of the United Nations and the 12th anniversary of the day its charter went into effect.

The theme of this year's U. N. Day programs is "in the common interest," a phrase from the U. N. charter. But most speakers were likely to dwell on the Suez and other Middle East crises and the Hungarian revolt. Those events have dominated U. N. discussions during the past year.

Other Observances

On the lighter side, N. Y. Day activities include a mountain climbing contest in Iran, with the winning team raising a U. N. flag on a peak in the Elburz Mountains, a bicycle race in Mexico, and a ceremony in Bangkok, Thailand, featuring the release of 82 colored balloons tagged with the names of the 82 U. N. members.

More commonplace observances included school programs, parades, the distribution of U. N. literature, meetings, discussions and festivals.

More than 1,600 U. N. Day committees were set up in the United States and 8,500 towns and cities have reported plans for ceremonies of some kind. The U. S. committee for the United Nations reported that the governments of only two states, Virginia and Mississippi, took no official notice of U. N. Day this year.

The Soviet Union distributed U. N. Day material to schools and its state-controlled press and radio. The U. S. S. R. Association for the United Nations organized public meetings, and the U. N. flag flew over the U. N. Information Center in Moscow.

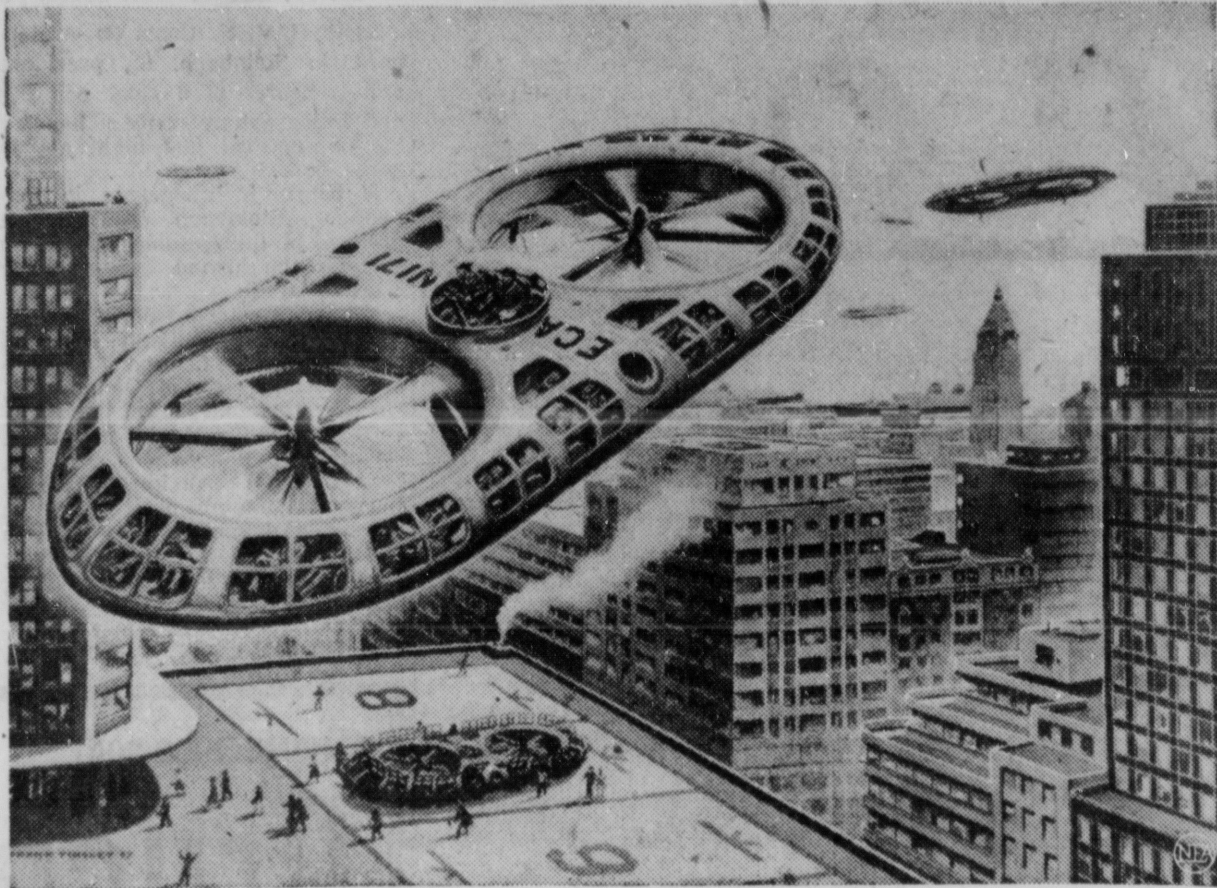

Gaza Strip Parade

The U. N. Emergency Force, set up to help stabilize the Egyptian-Israeli border, planned a parade at the Gaza air strip of 50 men from each unit of the unique international brigade.

At U. N. headquarters, a concert was scheduled in the General Assembly hall tonight. As usual the program is international, opening with a work by Jean Sibelius, the great Finnish composer who died last month. The chorus and orchestra were to play the last movement of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, the "Ode to Joy," that is traditional at U. N. Day concerts.

Should Be Enough

WETASKIWIN, Alta. (U. P.)—Mrs. Paul Sietke figures she has a real good-luck charm. Looking for a four-leaf clover, she found a 12-leaf stem.

AERIAL BUS—Commuting will be a breeze in the future, according to a national science magazine, which envisions tomorrow's workers traveling from home to business at 100 m.p.h. via a ducted-fan flying bus like the one above. The design, originated by Charles Zimmerman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, provides a control dome for pilot and copilot, and seats for 40 passengers behind large door windows which provide an unexcelled view. Artist-author Frank Tinsley of Mechanix Illustrated magazine, depicts the craft, which will support itself on columns of air forced downward through its twin fans.

Reds Assign War Ace to Turk Border

LONDON (U. P.)—The Soviet Union is sending one of its top soldiers, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, to command its forces on the Turkish border.

Diplomatic observers in London said the transfer of Rokossovsky, former Soviet pro-consul of Poland, was another Russian propaganda move to keep Middle East tension alive and bolster Syria in its cold war with western-allied Turkey.

Debate Resumes Friday

Syria yesterday rejected mediation of the current Middle Eastern crisis by Saudi Arabian King Saud, spurring U. S. delegates to the United Nations to press for a broad inquiry into causes of the Syrian-Turkish tension.

The U. N. renews debate tomorrow on the Syrian charges that Turkey, prodded by the United States, is planning to attack Syria. Turkey and the United States have denied the accusation, counter-claiming that Soviet arms and influence in Syria are causing the trouble.

Tiflis (Tbilisi) Radio, in the capital of the Soviet Republic of Georgia, announced the appointment of Rokossovsky to command the Trans-Caucasian military area bordering Turkey and Iran. It lies just 200 miles from Syria.

Rokossovsky since his recall from Poland has been a deputy defense minister. The broadcast gave no reason for the replacement of Col. Gen. Ivan Fedyninsky, last reported commanding the area.

Second to Zhukov

Tiflis is believed to be the location of Soviet military headquarters for the Trans-Caucasian area, which has an efficient road and rail system along which large forces would be moved quickly.

Rokossovsky was second only to Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov as a World War II Russian field commander. Stalin sent the 60-year-old Polish-born soldier to Warsaw in 1949 as commander of Polish armed forces. He became a symbol of Soviet domination to anti-Russian Poles, and in last October's Polish nationalist movement Communist boss Wladyslaw Gomulka got him recalled.

New Bible Translation

PHILADELPHIA (U. P.)—A new English translation of the Bible, taken from the ancient eastern Peshitta which renders the scriptures in Christ's native Aramaic, is being published by the A. J. Holman Co. here. The version, the result of 30 years work by Syrian scholar Dr. George Lamasa, has been hailed by church leaders as a major contribution.

Meeting Today

AFL-CIO May Be Ready to Expel Teamster Union

WASHINGTON (U. P.)—Embattled Teamsters bosses, found by a federal court to have conducted a rigged union convention three weeks ago, face punishment today on corruption charges from the parent AFL-CIO.

The federation's powerful 29-member Executive Council, comprising organized labor's top leadership, assembled to consider ousting the Teamsters, the nation's largest labor union, from AFL-CIO ranks.

Although President-elect James R. Hoffa reportedly has made a number of overtures to avoid suspension of the union, it was reliably reported the council had rejected these and was ready both to suspend the union and recommend its expulsion by the AFL-CIO convention next December.

May Name Committee

But a part of the plan reportedly was to name a three-member council committee with which Teamster officials could consult to learn what cleanup steps they must take to avoid eventual expulsion.

There were reports that Hoffa had dickered through emissaries to temper the union's punishment and accept a probationary status under AFL-CIO supervision to avoid any suspension.

It was reported that consideration had been given even to having Hoffa step aside and take an indefinite leave from the Teamsters Union to cool off some of the heat that has been engendered by the widespread corruption charges against Hoffa, retiring President Dave Beck and other Teamsters chiefs.

Hoffa now is prohibited by a preliminary injunction from taking over the union's helm. The injunction was issued late yesterday by Federal District Judge F. Dickinson Letts. But the judge refused to put the union under a court receiver, as he had been asked to do.

Acts on Findings

Judge Letts acted on the basis of his findings that the Teamsters convention held at Miami Beach, Fla., on Sept. 30-Oct. 5 was illegal. Letts agreed with a 13-man group of rank-and-file New York Teamsters members that a considerable number of convention delegates were seated illegally.

Letts, in broadening an earlier ban against Hoffa's taking charge of the Teamsters, said of him and other union officials newly elected at the convention:

"Defendants, by their conduct of the convention and by other misconduct . . . have demonstrated that they cannot be trusted to apply the constitution honestly and impartially during the pendency of this action."

Protesting Teamster Union lawyers, saying Letts had in effect decided the case on claims of plaintiffs' lawyers in advance of trial, planned to go to the U. S. Court of Appeals today in an effort to upset the injunction.

Wife Sues 14th Mate for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (U. P.)—Mrs. Beverly Avery is suing her 14th husband for a divorce.

"I never give up hoping," she said after filing the superior court suit yesterday. It charges Gabriel Avery, 47, a parking lot attendant, with cruelty.

Mrs. Avery, 48, asked the court for the right to use the surname Rosecrans, which she acquired with her eighth marriage.

Her marriage in May 1955 to Avery was his first.

Market Active, Brokers Keep Fingers Crossed

NEW YORK (U. P.)—The stock market moved higher in early trading today in the wake of yesterday's sensational upturn. Gains were mostly limited to less than $1 a share.

Dealings were active and within a few minutes of the opening the ticker tape started to lag behind transactions on the floor of the stock exchange.

Brokers along Wall Street had a better feeling today but kept their fingers crossed.

Their better feeling evolved from yesterday's rally, a development for which the financial fraternity had yearned and pined for more than three months.

It was spectacular. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped $5.80 to $156.70. That was the biggest one day advance in 28 years. It came after the market had slumped to a new low for the past 2½ years.

Behind the sudden turn-about in a market which has been declining since mid-July were two facts, in the opinion of financial men. One was the market's own technical condition and the other was President Eisenhower's plan for a series of nationwide talks.

Siam Still On Loose; Ave Acts

CATSKILL (U. P.)—Who would think that a two-ton elephant could move through dense woodlands of the Catskill Mountains as quietly as a mouse?

Siam can, her trainer said today. That's one reason the 13-year-old errant girl was enjoying her eighth consecutive day of freedom in the autumn-painted forest. She fled from her winter quarters at Mitchell Hollow last Wednesday after galloping horses frightened her.

Undaunted, a neighborhood posse resumed the hunt today in the rain.

Alfred Vidbel, who with his wife had trained Siam for about seven years, said he caught up with Siam about dusk yesterday. He got close enough to talk with the circus and television performer. Siam ignored his pleas and padded off.

Vidbel said he expected no difficulty in controlling Siam if she were recaptured. "She won't forget what she's learned," he said.

Gov. Harriman was interested in the hunt. He told the Conservation Department to help, and two forest rangers joined the searchers. The Hamid Morton Shrine Circus, Siam's owner, had appealed to Harriman for aid.

4 P. M. Deadline In N. Y. Milk Strike

NEW YORK (U. P.)—A deadline of 4 p. m. today hung over negotiators as they resumed efforts to prevent a strike of truck drivers and pasteurization plant employees that would cut off milk supplies of about 14 million persons in the metropolitan area.

A hopeful sign appeared that efforts to agree on a new contract might proceed faster today than they did yesterday.

Hope was expressed by some public officials that, if no agreement were reached by the deadline, both sides would agree to extend the expiring contract while talks continued.

Negotiators for 150 milk pasteurization and distribution companies and five locals of the Teamsters Union still were far apart despite scaling down of the union's original demands.

About 13,000 union members are involved.

Dulles Is Upheld on Passport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the right of the State Department to use confidential information in deciding whether to deny a passport application.

The court's 2-1 ruling sustained the refusal of Secretary of State Dulles to grant a passport to Weldon Bruce Dayton, Corning, N. Y., a cosmic ray physicist, to go to India to study at the Tata Institute in Bombay.

In the majority opinion, Judge E. Barrett Prettyman noted that the Supreme Court has never passed upon the precise question of whether the State Department may rely on confidential information in a passport case.

But, Prettyman said, the high court has provided helpful guidance in the principles laid down in other fields.

"Americans always resent and oppose the deprivation of liberty upon the basis of undisclosed information," Prettyman wrote. "We do so in this area. We would not agree to it except in the necessary circumstances of public concern. Such circumstances are here."

Judge Wilbur K. Miller concurred in Prettyman's opinion, but Judge Charles Fahy dissented. Fahy said that in denying Dayton's passport application Dulles "has not focused upon the question whether the grant would be likely to cause harm to national defense or to the conduct of foreign affairs." Fahy favored returning the case to the State Department for additional findings.

Shokan

SHOKAN — Benjamin Reiter of Chichester was a Shokan caller Tuesday. A summer resident for some time, he now plans to make his permanent home in the mountains.

Joseph Hausner, one time Shokan resident, has employment in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Hausner have a new house on Route 28 near Ashokan. They own the 80-acre tract of woodland known 50 years ago as the "Halsey Lot" which in days gone by was considered choice timberland by lumbermen.

Mrs. George Kuriger of Kingston and Robert Gordon of Woodstock recently called on their mother, Mrs. Virgil Gordon.

Robert Lasher of Mt. Tremper was a caller here Monday. He is currently employed at Beechford Farms.

Birthdays October 29 include that of Mrs. Fred Adsit, Shokan and native of the Boiceville area. The former Minnie Every has served as assistant postmaster and is active in Ladies Aid Society and Town Nursing Committee work.

John Link, who with his wife came here from Westchester County and located on the mountain road several years ago, is now residing with his son John who works in a bank in the Scarsdale area.

Callers in the village Saturday included Mollie Gersoni, Chichester woman who teaches mathematics at Ontario Central School.

Mrs. Kenneth Glass of Ashokan went to Cobleskill Monday to be near her son Glen, state college student who is ill in Cooperstown Hospital. He was a track star at Ontario.

Voice of the Future

DES MOINES (AP) — Pat Thompson, 8, overheard his parents discussing the propriety of very short shorts a young woman wore on a downtown street here. "I'll admit she does have beautiful legs," said Mrs. Thompson. "Yes," Pat commented. "For a girl."

Kingston's Rate Of Equalization Remains at 42

Kingston's tentative equalization rate as announced today by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment is 42, the same as last year.

Rates for 21 cities were given, and of these, 20 remain the same. A one point drop was noted for Geneva as a result of a change in level of assessment of real property.

Kingston's rate before last year's reassessment program was 36. The rates given are a state-established ratio, for tax purposes, between actual and assessed values of real property.

Hearings on the tentative rates in the cities for which rates were announced today will be held Nov. 8 in Hearing Room 2, 55 Elk Street, Albany.

Newburgh has a rate of 60 and Poughkeepsie's rate is 48.

Sunday school meets at 9:30 a. m., and Christian Endeavor Society, at 7:30. Its topic, "The Sixth Commandment."

The monthly congregational covered dish supper will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. in the basement. Pictures will be shown detailing the life in Reformed Church Seminary at New Brunswick where Joseph Vradenburgh is a student taking the last year of his work there before entering the ministry. A congregational meeting for the purpose of electing members of the consistory will be held Tuesday, Nov. 12, following a covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m.

Sunday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p. m., the first of a series of forums will be held in the Reformed Church. The subject will be the religious impulse as shown in primitive religions.

Dr. Herbert J. Spinden, who has a summer cottage on the road to Mead's will be the lecturer. At present he is curator in the Brooklyn Museum.

He has given his life to the investigation of the Indian cultures in the United States and Mexico, has lectured on this subject extensively in North and South America and has written many works on ancient and present-day Indian cultures.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend these forums. They will be informal with opportunity given for questioning the lecturers. There will be no admission or offering, but contributions toward the expenses involved will be greatly appreciated.

Christ Lutheran Church Lists Weeks Activities

The Rev. G. Oliver Sands plans to preach on "What Is Protestantism?" at the 11 a. m. service in Christ Lutheran Church, Sunday.

A brief congregational meeting will follow the service.

The fellowship family will meet at 7 p. m. (please note the change of hour) at the Zena Country Club for a Halloween party. Refreshments will be served later in the evening by the committee in charge. They are Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Holmizer and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jenkins. An offering will be taken to defray expenses.

The Luther League plans to meet at the parsonage Monday, at 7:30 p. m.

A call has been received for good used clothing for Lutheran World Relief. Donations may be left at the church or parsonage.

An invitation has been received to the Martin Luther film to be shown in the Ashokan Methodist Church Oct. 30.

Choir rehearsal will be held Thursday at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Ronald Gry was guest of honor at a stork shower at the parsonage of Christ Lutheran Church last Thursday evening following the regular choir rehearsal. Choir members served the refreshments to the 30 people in attendance.

Mrs. Hans Horgen, Mrs. John Wolven and Mrs. G. Oliver Sands of Woodstock, and Mrs. Donald Zimmerman of Kingston attended the fall convention of the United Lutheran Church Women of Eastern Conference of the United Synod of New York and New England which convened in Red Hook recently.

The Young Women's Guild of Christ Lutheran Church has been postponed.

Scientist Church Services Scheduled

Man's responsibility for spiritual growth and progress will be emphasized in the lesson-sermon entitled "Probation After Death" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections to be read include (Philippians 3:13-15).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read (29:12-13).

The Golden Text is from James (1:12).

Elmira Leader Dies

ELMIRA (AP) — John A. Rathbone, Elmira business and philanthropic leader, died today at his home after a long illness. He was 71.

For many years he was associated with the Chemung Canal Trust Co., and was a director of the Frank E. Gannett Newspaper Foundation, Inc.

SPACE BOSS? — James T. Mangan, above, peevish because Russia's Sputnik is trespassing on his deed to the sky, has offered to turn his holding in space over to the United States. Mangan, a Chicago, Ill., lawyer, received a deed to the sky in 1948 from Cook County, Ill., and recently named his kingdom "Celestia." Mangan termed his action timely because Celestia "is the only political entity to set up coming space laws that all nations on earth must obey."

Half of Sawyer Squad Stricken With the Flu

Wappingers Falls and Arlington have postponed their Friday night tussle at Poughkeepsie's Riverview Field for the same reason. The schools hope to get together on Election Day.

Bill Straub Saugerties coach, said this morning about half his squad has been hit. He added that due to schedule problems it would be impossible to play the contest at a later date.

The cancellation leaves the Sawyers with just two more games. Their next action is Nov. 2 at Roosevelt Central. The following week, Nov. 9, they journey to Wappingers Falls to make up a postponed game from last Saturday.

Elsewhere in the area, six games are on tap as of today. Launching activities will be the arclight affair at Dietz Stadium involving Kingston High and Middletown. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Maroon Must Win

The game is of vital importance to the Maroon who pace the DUSO with a 2-0 record. A win will mean another big step toward a second straight crown for the locals. And then, of course, is the business of Kingston's great all-winning streak which stands at 13 games and the added incentive to keep it alive.

Like a lot of the other schools, KHS has also been bitten by the flu bug. Coach Bill Burke reported yesterday that two of his regulars, center Frank Sammons and quarterback Jerry McDonough are sick and absent from school. The chances of playing are questionable as of the moment. It goes without saying that Kingston's chances will take a severe dip if they're lost.

Middletown has also been hit and like the Maroon had to postpone its last scheduled start. The Middies are reported to be thin in manpower and are juggling players madly in an effort to be ready.

Berthoff at End

One of the chief switches is halfback Gordie Berthoff to end. Berthoff is a three-year veteran who was the Blue and White's outstanding threat in '56. But he has been pushed in the back-ground by husky Don Bergamo who is the key man in Coach John Nania's single wing attack. Saturday's program is headed by the New Paltz-Rondout Valley skirmish at Kerhonkson. Possession of first place will be at stake when the UCAL co-leaders come to grips. Both are 2-0 in loop competition and want the victory badly.

Ontario, 1-0 in the UCAL, hopes to fatten up winless Marlboro (0-2) at Boiesville. The Indians will be risking a modest three-game overall sweep.

Pioneers Vs. NFA

Another top-notchier is the Poughkeepsie-Newburgh DUSO clash at the Hill City. The Goldbacks have been idle the past two weekends and will be making their first loop start. Their record is one win and a tie.

Poughkeepsie is 2-1 in the league and second to Kingston. Against everybody, the Pioneers are 3-1.

Highland is at Liberty, Peekskill at Beacon and NYMA at Pennington, N. J. in other games.

The Highlanders hope to rebound from the 19-0 upset by Clarkstown but may be in for a rough afternoon. The Redskins are 3-1 and one of the top independent teams hereabouts.

They defeated tough Goshen 6-0 Tuesday in their last start.

Beacon will be searching for its first win after four reversals. Peekskill is unknown quantity but usually comes up with a fair to middling squad.

NYMA has taken it on the chin from DUSO teams, Kingston and Port Jervis, on successive weeks and is itching to even up its record. The Cadets routed Nott Terrace, 21-0, in their opener.

Army Plays First Game in Virginia

WEST POINT, Oct. 24—Army, the nation's ninth ranked team and the best in the East, will make its first gridiron appearance in the Commonwealth of Virginia Saturday afternoon when Coach Earl Black's Black Knights play the University of Virginia.

Accompanying the team will be 575 first-classmen (seniors) of the United States Corps of Cadets, and the 114-piece Military Academy band.

If the Cavaliers performance of last Saturday is any indication that they have found themselves, the game could well be a repeat of the 1954 Army-Virginia thriller.

The Virginians at the time had won three of five games and were rated as a five touchdown underdog against the Cadets. Ralph Chesnaukas' three perfect extra points saved the day as Army eked out a 21-20 verdict in a pouring rain.

Virginia opened the season surprising powerful West Virginia with a 6-6 tie and since then has been off and on. Last week, led by All-America Jim Bakhtiar's four touchdowns,

Gavilan Cries Robbery, But Decision Stands

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP)—The familiar cry of "robber" echoed from the camp of welterweight contender, Kid Gavilan today, but the record shows the 31-year-old veteran lost a split decision to Gaspar (El Indian) Ortega of Mexico.

Gavilan was a picture of dejection and he felt certain he had won the 12-round outdoor scrap Tuesday night. His voluble manager, Yanki Chade, planned to protest the outcome with the state athletic commission.

At one stage Chade exclaimed: "It's shameful. Gavilan never fight here again or I go to electric chair."

Down Godwin's, 79-77, in Game Of Unbeaten 58

Minute Car Wash took over undisputed possession of first place in the YMCA "B" League last night, shading Godwin's Upholstery, 79-77, in a battle worthy of undefeated contenders. The teams shared 4-0 records going into the payoff game.

With all five regulars hitting in double figures and Johnny Burris, Mel Williams and Bob Smith beating a steady rhythm on the bucket, the Car Wash ground out quarter leads of 15-12, 34-30 and 56-54.

The fourth quarter was a Mexican standoff at 23-23. Ray Lucas drilled 10 of his 23 points to keep Godwin's in the battle.

Godwin's Go Ahead

Lucas sent Godwin's ahead 75-74 with a one-hander at the 1:20 mark. Smith regained the lead for Car Wash with a deuce at the minute mark, 76-75. Burris' free throw made it 77-75 and Bucky Miller's shot iced the contest with 12 seconds left, 79-75. Chub McCloskey connected for Godwin's in the closing seconds.

The contest developed brilliant shooting on both sides as expected. Miller potted 19 points for Car Wash and Burris and Smith had 18 apiece in the team's fifth straight victory without a defeat. Mel Williams, the set shot artist, and Dolly

Alabama Seeking New Grid Coach For 1958 Season

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide, once one of the nation's most powerful football teams, is in the market for a new coach.

The Alabama Athletic Council announced last night that it would not recommend that Coach J. B. Whitworth's contract be renewed after it expires Dec. 1. Whitworth came to Alabama from Oklahoma A&M in 1955, and his record for the 24 Tide games he has coached is 2 victories, 20 defeats and 2 ties.

Medley had 12 points each. Individual scoring honors went to Ray Lucas of Godwin's with 23 points on 10 deuces and three free throws. Dick Richards unloaded 21 and Al Long bucketed 16 from the center slot.

Snead's 67 New Record For Tokyo Golf Course

Demaret Fires 69 In International Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

TOKYO (AP)—A course-record 67 by Sam Snead and an almost as good 69 by Jimmy Demaret sent the United States off to an imposing five-stroke lead today in defense of the international Canada Cup golf championship.

Putting the Kasumigaseki Country Club's rough koral grass greens as if they were marble-topped, the two veteran Yanks out-classed hand-picked professionals from 29 other nations in the opening round of the 72-hole medal play tournament.

Five strokes back in second place came the surprising Japanese tandem of Torakichi Nakamura and Koichi Ono, who were first off the tee and who finished to the applause of a partisan gallery of some 6,000.

Nakamura, 42, a teaching professional, shot a 68, second only to Snead's record round. Ono fired 73 for 141.

The Bums Arrive

Los Angeles Roars
Welcome to Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Big league baseball flew into Los Angeles and a tumultuous welcome last night. Hundreds of spectators strained against ropes as the specially chartered plane carrying the vanguard of the Los Angeles Dodgers set down on the International Airport runway.

Cheers blended with the cacophonous blare of jazz and marching bands as the plane taxied into the glare of television lights.

A U. S. senator was jostled unnoticed in the crush. Even an old National League umpire was smiling.

President Walter O'Malley was the first of the 28 Dodger officials aboard the plane to face the throng. His beaming Irish face was greeted with a loud roar.

He waved his arm at huge lettering on the side of the plane—"Los Angeles Dodgers." Another roar from the crowd.

Welcome to LA
City Councilwoman Rosalind Wyman stumbled through the maze of cameras and the tangle of television and radio wires.

"Welcome to Los Angeles," she shouted into a microphone. The crowd surged forward from behind the roped-off area. Someone recognized a husky fellow buffeted in the stampede.

He was Sen. William Knowland. The California Republican was pushed to the front where he extended the state's welcome to O'Malley and his Dodgers from the Borough of Brooklyn.

Junior Gilliam was the only ball player aboard the twin-engine plane. But slugger Duke Snider, who lives in suburban Compton, was on hand to greet his associates.

O'Malley held a 15-minute news conference in the plane, and then the group left—with police escort—for a downtown hotel.

Ticket Plans
The smiling Dodger president said the first orders of business are to establish a ticket plan, decide whether to use Wrigley Field, Memorial Coliseum, or both; and, begin work on the proposed 50,000-seat stadium in Chavez Ravine.

Other players are expected to arrive before a giant civic luncheon Monday.

Beans Reardon, for many years an umpire in the National League, was among the throng at the airport.

"I thumbed 'em out many a time, but I'm glad to call 'em in now," smiled Beans, who is now retired and living in suburban Long Beach.

Indians, Hershey
Play to 3-All Tie

By The Associated Press
The Springfield Indians meant business for the first 20 minutes against the Hershey Bears last night, but it must have slipped their minds during the rest of the way as the two teams played a 3-3 overtime tie in the only American Hockey League game scheduled.

The Indians did all their scoring in the first period and then spent the next two quarters making them stand up.

CHAPLAIN, N. C. (NEA)—David Reed, North Carolina's quarterback, helps his ball handling by keeping up with his favorite hobby—being an amateur magician.

Start of New Era

11,000 Greet Detroit's
New Franchise in NBA

By DAVE DILES
The Associated Press

Detroit — often called the best sports town in the world—officially welcomed its fourth professional sport Wednesday night with a near-11,000 turnout for the city's first taste of professional basketball in more than a decade.

Big Bill Russell and his Boston Celtics spoiled the welcome party at Olympia Stadium with a 105-94 triumph. But it was a success anyway, with lots of basketball, an occasional brawl, a 16-piece orchestra and a smattering of politics.

The New York Knicks downed the St. Louis Hawks, defending Western Division champs, 112-95 in the opener of the National Basketball Assn. doubleheader at the 10,963 opening night spectators stayed on until the finish, which didn't come until after midnight.

"We're in Detroit for a long time," said a smiling Fred Zollner, who brought the Pistons to Detroit after 16 years in Fort Wayne. "We're happy, in fact surprised, at the turnout and the enthusiasm. It's simply wonderful."

Governor Attends
Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams and city councilwoman Mary Beck gave official welcomes, and representatives of the city's other professional clubs—the Tigers, Lions and Red Wings—were on hand.

The Celtics, defending world champions, pulled away from the Pistons in the third period and waltzed home to their second straight triumph as Detroit's two big scorers, George Yardley and Walter Dukes, fouled out in the final period.

Boston's Bill Sharman lead the scoring with 24.

Tall man Ray Felix of the Knicks and Charlie Share of the Hawks provided most of the excitement in the opener, with a lively bit of fist swinging in the second period. Few punches were actually landed, though, and neither player was banished.

Felix scored 22 points and paced the Knicks.

Giants Employ
Duster Mails

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Walter (Duster) Mails, former star lefthanded pitcher for the Cleveland Indians and a long-time promotion director for the San Francisco Seals, has been added to the official family of the San Francisco Giants.

Gary Schumacher, director of promotions for the Giants, announced that Mails has joined the promotion department. His duties were not defined.

Mails reached his highest peak as a pitcher with the world champion Cleveland Indians of 1920.

Tanforan, Idled
Twenty-Six Days
Open to Bettors

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Tanforan Racetrack reopens today after a strike shutdown of 26 days.

But bettors have only three days of action left before the ponies move across San Francisco Bay for the Monday start of Golden Gate Fields 42-day season. The strike called by pari-mutuel clerks Sept. 24 after 13 racing days, also delayed the opening of the Western Harness Racing Meet at Hollywood Park. The pacers, scheduled to open Oct. 3, begin today.

Observers say neither side was pleased with the $4 a day obtained by the clerks in Tuesday night's strike settlement. They had sought $5.30; the federation of California Racing Assns. Inc. had made a top offer of $3.50.

The talk is that guildsmen feel that other unions forced them into accepting the $4 — $2 this year, and $1 the next two — while the tracks wanted to stop at their $3.40 offer.

Tanforan officials estimated the strike cost the state 1½ million dollars as its share of the betting money it claims and horsemen $600,000 in purses.

The officials said the 203 mutual clerks, who now get from $26.60 to $81.60 a day, lost approximately $200,000 in wages.

Army-Navy Tilt
Is a Sellout

WEST POINT, Oct. 23 — The Army-Navy football game was officially announced as a sellout today by West Point's graduate manager of athletics, Lt. Col. Francis J. Roberts.

Rangers Blank
Toronto, 3 to 0

By The Associated Press
A threat to bring up farm hands to replace some regulars on the New York Rangers may have been just a psychological move on the part of Coach Phil Watson, but it did the trick.

Since the you-can-be-replaced announcement, the Rangers have won two in a row, the latest being a 3-0 whitewash of the Toronto Maple Leafs last night in the only National Hockey League game scheduled.

Goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley, prime target for Watson's murmurs, has played brilliantly in the past two games. He allowed only one goal Sunday night when the Broadway Blues thumped the Chicago Black Hawks and he completely cooled off Toronto's new razzmatazz offense last night.

It takes about 45 gallons of water to fill completely an average-size bathtub.

Detroit Awarded
Moore-Spieser
Bout in January

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit, which hasn't had a championship boxing match since Ezzard Charles decided Jersey Joe Walcott in 15 rounds on March 7, 1951, has officially been awarded a January light heavyweight title bout.

It will match champion Archie Moore of Toledo, San Diego, St. Louis, New York and a dozen other places, against Chuck Spieser, a 28-year-old slugger who always has called Detroit home.

Spieser's backers, for the most part a group of people almost totally unfamiliar with boxing except via TV screens, have less than three months to figure out a way to keep from losing $100,000.

That's the amount they guaranteed Archie to defend the title that was so long in coming to him.

The contracts were officially drawn up and signed yesterday. Moore and his co-managers, Charlie Johnston and Doc Kearns, have a choice of $100,000 or 40 per cent of the net receipts, including TV money.

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C. (CP)—Three members of the Archery Club needed only four arrows to bag three big black bears. Perry Stoble, Milt Roberts and Frank Dennis brought home their trophies after a weekend of bow-and-arrow hunting in nearby timberland.

Phils Ponder Offer to TV
77 Games to New York Area

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phillies, was scheduled to meet with officials of a New York television station today for another round of discussion on a bid to telecast half of the National League club's 1958 schedule in this now American League town.

Carpenter was optimistic about working out details to beam most of the Phillies' home games and some of their road games into New York, left as the sole territory of the New York Yankees now that the Giants and Dodgers have fled to the West Coast.

Nix Jersey City
The local station (WOR) reportedly has offered $600,000 to the Phillies for TV rights and is said to be conferring with a brewery as a possible sponsor for the games. The station telecast Dodger Games in the past.

The Phillies yesterday turned down an offer to play some of their 1958 games at Roosevelt Stadium in Jersey City, N. J., as the Dodgers did in 1956 and 1957.

The offer had been made by Bernard J. Berry, Jersey City parks commissioner, who also extended the proposal to two other National League clubs, the Cincinnati Redlegs and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Berry, who said he had not yet heard from the Redlegs or Pirates, said he received a letter from Carpenter which said the Phillies had been drawing well in Philadelphia and the additional expense involved would not make it practical.

Defense Pays Off With Four Straight for Auburn Eleven

By The Associated Press
The idea about a high-powered offense being a team's best defense may be sound in some places, but don't try to sell it to Auburn's Tigers.

The nation's fifth-ranking college football team, unable to generate much of an attack, is doing a switch on an old saw and leading with its defense. So far, it's been good enough for four consecutive victories.

Statistics from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed why today, listing Auburn as the nation's leader on total defense for the second week in a row.

In their four starts, the Tigers have held the opposition to an average of 157.8 yards while throwing three shutouts and allowing only seven points in the other. Oklahoma State ranks second by a shade over Navy, although each has a per-game yield of 168.2.

In the separate departments, defending against runs and passes, Iowa heads the national lineup against rushes, with only 243 yards permitted in four straight victories. The Hawkeyes, rated third in the current Associated Press poll, have a per-game average of 58.5 yards to 85.8 for runnerup Auburn. Georgia Tech has been stingiest against passes, giving up 11 completions in four games for 123 yards—30.8 average. Florida is next with 34 yards a game, on 10 completions for 102 yards in three games.

UCLA took over the lead in team punting, getting off seven kicks for a 51-yard average in its upset of Oregon State. The Uclans have a 42.4 average on 30 kicks in five games. Tennessee follows with a 41.7 average for 25 punts.

Jewel's Reward Garden Choice

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Chrysanthemums and cash take the place of roses and tradition Saturday in the fifth running of the Garden State, a golden gallop paying the world's richest stakes prize.

A top crop of two-year-olds, piloted by some of the nation's leading jockeys, will be seeking the winners share of the $275,150 pot. If all 12 horses nominated go to the post, the winner stands to collect a cool $156,334. As well as a wreath of mums for the victory, Jewel's Reward, the Maine Chance Farm entry with Willie Shoemaker up, was the pre-race favorite. Willie Hartack and Eric Guerin also will be in their booting their horses home. Hartack was slated to ride Nadir, while Guerin was signed to handle Rose Trellis.

Hartack Seeks 41st

Hartack, aboard the Claiborne Farms' entry, will be after his 41st stakes win of the season and a new record. A win astride the Nasrullah colt also would be Hartack's second straight in the Garden State. He took top money last year aboard Barbizon.

Guerin also will be riding for his second Garden State win. He came in first in the rich fixture in 1954 on Summer Tan.

Misty Flight, the Wheatley Stable's entry trained by Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, figures to be a red-hot second choice in the mile and a sixteenth race.

Boyd Defeats Fran Szuzina At Syracuse

SYRACUSE (AP)—One-time top middleweight contender Bobby Boyd of Chicago outpointed Franz Szuzina of Germany for a unanimous decision last night in a 10-round bout that saw only the referee hit the deck.

Szuzina, who weighed in at 159, sent referee Joe Palmer to the canvas after the seventh-round bell as the official was trying to break the fighters. Boyd was a pound over the middleweight limit at 161.

Boyd, on the comeback trail after suffering a broken jaw a year ago, scored early and withstood the desperation punches from the Bremen native. The Chicagoan celebrated his birthday a day early. He is 24 today.

It was Boyd's fifth victory since Joey Giardello cracked his jaw in a fight in Cleveland. He now has a record of 46-7-1. Szuzina, the favorite of the crowd but not the bookmakers, has a 41-19-13 record. The small gathering of 969 roared when Palmer slumped to the floor in the misfire after the seventh round ending.

"It was a right hand that caught me on the back of the head," Palmer said. He said he thought it was more surprise than power that decked him. "I've been hit harder than that," he said and laughed.

It was Boyd's second victory over the stocky German. The Chicago boy won a split decision over Szuzina last March in Miami Beach.

Judge Dick Albino gave Boyd seven rounds, Szuzina three. Judge Harold McGrath scored it 6-3-1 in favor of Boyd. Referee Palmer also favored Boyd, 5-4-1. The Associated Press card saw Boyd the victor, 5-3-2.

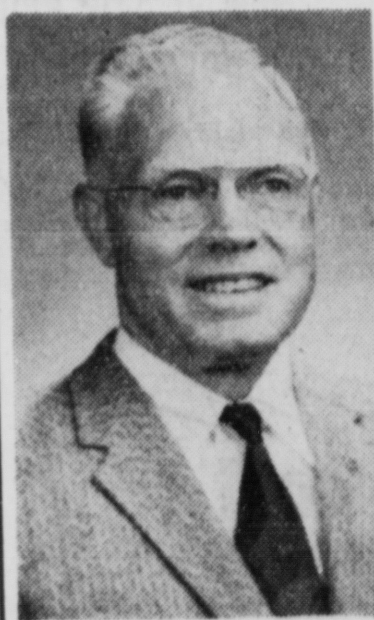

The fight was broadcast and televised nationally. The take at the gate was $1,762.

Flu, Pneumonia Deaths 692 More Than Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were 692 more deaths from influenza and pneumonia in 108 cities between Sept. 1 and Oct. 18 than there were a year ago, the Public Health Service reported today. The service added, however, it could not estimate now how many were caused by influenza. There also were 4,179 more deaths from all causes in 114 cities in the same period, during which the Asian flu outbreak reached epidemic proportions in many areas.

Abandons Estimate
The cities embrace about one-third of the nation's population. But the report cautioned against assuming the impact was the same in the rest of the country.

Giving the statistics in its weekly summary of the Asian flu situation, the service abandoned its practice of estimating the new cases each week.

It said new cases could have been in the range of a million or more during the week ended Oct. 18, making the cumulative total since early June something upwards of 2½ million.

A spokesman said the weekly reports from now on would put more emphasis on indicated mortality as an index of the impact of the outbreak and less on trying to estimate the numbers of new cases.

December Decline

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said yesterday the numbers of cases would probably increase during the next eight or 10 weeks, with likelihood the disease would be on the decline sometime in December or early next year.

He said the death rate appeared to be about as expected, somewhere in the neighborhood probably of about two-tenths of 1 per cent.

The weekly report said outbreaks of influenza and influenza-like disease continued to occur in all parts of the country last week.

It added, however, that the epidemics appeared to be becoming less extensive or intensive in some southern states and more so in many northern states.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan began today a second day of conferences amid predictions they will reach broad agreement on measures to meet Russia's growing scientific-military challenge.

May Revise Act

Macmillan, accompanied by a number of aides, went into the White House at 10:20 a. m. after Eisenhower had finished an hour-long session with the National Security Council, top U. S. policy making body for defense and foreign affairs.

Diplomats working with the two leaders said these two further lines of action are to be expected as a result of the Macmillan-Eisenhower get-together:

1. A recommendation to Congress by Eisenhower next year for revision of the U. S. Atomic Energy Act to permit sharing of atomic weapons secrets with Britain as a means of reviving the World War II scientific partnership.

2. Steps to mobilize scientific and other resources not only of the United States and Britain but also of other allied nations in Europe, the Middle East and Far East on a wider basis than ever has been attempted before. This could mean more high level conferences, perhaps involving top officials of the NATO countries. It could also involve such practical measures as standardization of weapons design and manufacture. Eisenhower and Macmillan met for dinner at the White House last night and were together with Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd for 3½ hours.

Review World Affairs

The dinner session followed a two-hour meeting between Macmillan and Dulles and their advisers at the British embassy. A statement released by the State Department said that they "began a general review of world affairs and an appraisal of the political and military considerations involved."

It was understood that in the afternoon conference and presumably again in the White House dinner discussion they came to grips with the two central problems of this gathering—how to overtake Russia's apparent lead in long range missiles development and how to coordinate their policies in dealing with the frequently recurring crises in the Middle East where Russia seeks expanded power.

Kahil Trial Put Over Till Nov. 7

Trial of the disorderly conduct and reckless driving charges against Richard Kahil, 38, Mt. Tremper, which were scheduled for Wednesday night before Justice of the Peace Frank Carle of the Town of Olive, has been adjourned until Nov. 7. Kahil was arrested by state police Oct. 15 on complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kenyon of Woodstock, who charged someone had attempted to force an entrance to their premises on Neher Street, Woodstock.

Kahil was arrested the following day and entered a plea of innocent when arraigned before Justice Carle and was released in $50 bail pending trial.

The complaint alleges Kahil attempted to force open the front door of the Kenyon home shortly before midnight on Oct. 14, but Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon managed to force the door shut. Kenyon alleges he gave chase to the station wagon and in the village the operator of the station wagon attempted to ram his vehicle. He then abandoned the chase and notified state police.

Two Are Indicted

WHITE PLAINS (AP)—A county grand jury indictment charging perjury and forgery in connection with an election petition has been returned against two associates of James M. Landis, former high Washington official.

The indictment, handed down yesterday, names Paul Bauman, 42, an attorney and law partner of Landis until two weeks ago, and Joseph R. Straface, 23, private secretary to Landis in his position as member of the Westchester County Board of Supervisors, representing the town of Harrison.

Both Bauman and Straface live in Harrison. They pleaded innocent and were released in bail. Landis, who is seeking re-election, heads a list of six candidates for town offices on the Democratic ticket.

Escort Is Absent First Time for 8 LR Negroes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Eight Negro students entered Central High School today without a military escort for the first time since they began attending classes at the previously all-white school a month ago under protection of federal troops.

Yesterday the Negroes left the school without escort for the first time since soldiers arrived.

An Army spokesman said, the procedure was "new policy."

As the Negro children walked up to the steps to the main entrance, three white boys met them face-to-face on the steps for a moment, then parted and let the Negroes through. There were several shouts from about 20 white boys who were lounging around the entrance.

A score of paratroopers and National Guardsmen still are stationed inside the building, the Army spokesman said, a sharp reduction from previous weeks.

Last night Gov. Orval Faubus accused the federal government of trampling "into the dust" the will of a majority of southern citizens.

Faubus told a county judges' convention that in using troops at Central High School, the government had taken a long stride toward destroying a Republican form of government.

More than 2,200 miles of high-speed expressways have been built in the United States since 1951.

YOU CAN'T HEAT YOUR HOUSE WITH THE WINDOWS OPEN

No! And it's mighty hard to keep your house warm when heat is constantly escaping through the walls and roof, too. Walls and ceilings can leak like a sieve —when not insulated.

ROCK WOOL insulation literally puts a blanket around your house and holds the heat in — just as surely as in the sweltering summer days, it holds the heat out.

You'll find that the money you save on fuel alone will soon cover the cost of having ROCK WOOL installed. And you can arrange to pay for this installation in convenient payments, if you wish.

Phone for a free estimate.

Sugar to Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—Playwright John van Druten is turning to murder and melodrama for his next Broadway outing.

Van Druten, previously an expert in such sugared amenities as "The Voice of the Turtle" and "I Remember, Mama," is adapting Anatomy of Murder, a novel that won't be published until January.

The book, written by a Michigan supreme court justice, is assured of the best-seller lists already as a book-club selection, and as a drama it is expected to be ready for showing by early spring.
